College-Ave. Store Property Figures In Deal

Building Occupied By Woolworth Co. Sold To Retson And Katsoulas
SELLING PRICE NEAR $50,000
Present Occupants Will Not Be Disturbed For Present At Least

One of the largest Appleton real estate transactions in years was completed Friday noon, when Retson and Katsoulas, proprietors of the Olympia building, purchased the three story business block occupied by the F. W. Woolworth company. While the purchase price was not mentioned, it is understood that the building sold for approximately $50,000.

The building formerly was the property of the A. L. Smith estate, but for the last 15 years it was owned by John L. Lewis, a New York business man. H. W. Tuttrup was the agent of Mr. Lewis, while M. A. Schuh handled the affairs of the purchasers. Nick Retson and George Katsoulas were not prepared to make an announcement of their intentions as to the use of the building. They denied that they would occupy the building in the near future and said that the real estate deal would not interfere with present occupants.

The lower floor is occupied by the F. W. Woolworth five and ten cent store, which holds a five year lease. The third floor is the meeting hall of the Appleton Trades and Labor council, and the remainder of the building consists of business offices.

OWN MANY BUILDINGS
Retson and Katsoulas are Appleton business men, who in addition to owning the Woolworth building, also are owners of the Olympia building which adjoins the Bretschneider furniture store and the old Commercial National bank building owned by the Patten estate. They also are owners of the building on College-ave. occupied by the Coney Island lunch room, and the Academy billiard parlor building of Neenan.

The Retson and Katsoulas partnership was formed in Appleton about 18 years ago, when the men began in business on a small scale on the site of the Olympia building. Later they purchased additional property adjoining their's and built an addition. It is said that the Woolworth building was purchased on a strictly cash basis.

The Woolworth building is a three story brick structure and has a frontage of 41 feet. It was erected in 1886. For the last 17 years the lower floor has been occupied by the Woolworth store.

The building is the last of the former A. L. Smith estate holdings that Mr. Tuttrup has disposed of. The Smith estate formerly consisted of the site of the Citizens bank building, the Carroll music store recently purchased by W. H. Nolan, the Matt Schmitt store, the old Armory and the Park hotel corner on which site the Masonic lodge will erect a structure. All of the properties were sold by Mr. Tuttrup.

WIND FANS FOREST FIRE NEAR DULUTH

By Associated Press
St. Paul.—The potential menace of forest fires burning in northern and central Minnesota had risen Friday with the wind and military and forestry officials directing the work of fire fighting expressed fear that the situation will show no sign of abatement, according to reports from the fire zone.

The most serious aspect of the whole situation, according to Major Gillespie, assistant to Adj. General Rhinow, seems to be that the fires about 45 miles west, northwest and southwest of Duluth are forming a semi-circle. If these fires joint and a high wind springs up, officials said, there is no doubt that it will spell havoc to the small communities in that district.

Menacing fires also were reported to W. Cox state forester, from Koochiching county where 400 men are battling the flames which have burned over more than 12,000 acres.

TOWNSEND TO WIN DESPITE G.O.P. LOSSES

Wets Gaining In Michigan—Real Beer Sold, Political Writer Hears

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922 by Post Pub. Co.
Detroit.—The Democrats have a better chance of electing a United States Senator in Michigan than they have had since the Civil war. Translated into political actualities, however, this is only another way of saying that the Republican majority of 350,000 will be extensively reduced and Senator Townsend, Republican, will pull through by a relatively small margin.

The campaign has hardly begun but it will be admitted that former Governor Ferris who is running for the United States senate on the Democratic ticket is a fascinating speaker and vote getter. Twice he carried this state and to do so any Democrat must win the Republican voters to his standard by tens of thousands.

FERRIS HAS CHANCE
Those who believe former Governor Ferris has a chance to win base their hunch on the fact that he has twice carried a Republican state of such size as this and they argue that the 1920 landslide would have buried anybody. Mr. Ferris makes friends on the stump and draws immense crowds. He twists his opponent constantly and promises an interesting campaign for Michigan.

As for issues, the chief complaint against Senator Townsend is that he refused to vote to unseat his colleague, Truman H. Newberry. There is a good deal of agitation over Newberryism. It didn't all vanish after the primaries either. The 125,000 votes which Herbert Baker got in the Republican primaries for United States senator is variously described as "sinister" and "significant." It's the same type of vote that helped Roosevelt sweep the state against Taft and the same radical fringe which carried the presidential primaries for Hiram Johnson. The Democratic calculators simply add the 125,000 to Mr. Ferris' prospective total and remark that Mr. Townsend really polled only one-ninth of the state vote on primary day.

Just why Mr. Ferris, who was by no means a radical when he was governor should acquire all the Baker vote, is not clear though it is apparent he will win large blocks of progressive and liberal votes. The addition of the 125,000 wouldn't of course be enough to insure the election of Mr. Ferris. This much is certain—Mr. Ferris will poll the normal Democratic vote and will draw to his banner on personal issues alone a large part of the Republican strength. Unless the campaign should delineate the issue and develop unexpected fireworks, the forecast of a close vote with a safe majority for Townsend is what one is given by most persons of disinterested judgment in the political world hereabouts.

STAY AT HOME PROTEST
Two or three days of cold weather just before election might cause many Republicans to stay at home and express that way their protest against the handling of the rail and coal strikes. The supply of hard coal is as yet too uncertain to decide the fate of the candidates but the party in power will suffer some loss.

ORDER HEARING ON TWO BRIDGES HERE

U. S. Engineers Will Be Here
Oct. 5 To Learn Appleton's Views

A public hearing in the matter of construction of Cherry-st. viaduct and Law-st. bridge over the Fox River will be held in the council chamber of the city hall at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, Oct. 5. Major F. S. Skinner of the war department, district engineer of the United States engineering office at Milwaukee, will be present to conduct the hearing.

Regulations of the war department require that a public hearing shall be held before the plans are submitted for action of the war department. A permit has already been granted by the department for the erection of a high level bridge at Law-st., but the decision of the council to erect a semi-low level instead made it necessary for the city engineer to make another application.

A frank and full expression of the views of all interested parties is desired by the engineering office. Statements should be presented in writing, but oral statements also will be given due consideration.

TWO APPLETON MEN RAIDED BY U.S. OFFICERS

Joseph H. Jones And V. R. Rule In Net Of Federal Dry Agents

Joseph H. Jones, 1080 Eighth-st., and Vernon R. Rule, 801 Clark-st., probably will be among the group of men from all parts of the middle west who will be summoned before the federal grand jury soon following the most sensational cleanup by prohibition officers in some time.

Homes of both men were raided Thursday afternoon. The raids were made by Irvan Kantcheff and William Loose, federal officers, in a surprise visit here following capture of two Chicago men in Milwaukee, alleged to be leaders of a illicit liquoring.

ALLEGED FAKE LABELS
Ten quarts of liquor defined by the officers as colored alcohol were found at the Jones home, altogether with a small quantity of burnt sugar fluid used for coloring purposes. The bottles bore fictitious labels bearing the trademark, "Old Trump, Kentucky's Finest." The bottles were sealed with alleged fake federal revenue stickers which would indicate the fluid to have been manufactured in 1910. Officers said the labels were identical with those on bottles seized from the Chicago men.

Pint bottles containing a colored liquid were found at the Rule residence. They were said to contain a tonic and were labeled as such. It is believed they will not test a high enough percentage of alcohol to be useful as evidence. One of the officers had in his possession a check for $350 payable to "Cash" and signed "Vernon R. Rule," which the official declared he found in possession of the Chicago pair. He said Rule admitted writing the check when it was shown him, but would not state to whom it was given.

CONFISCATE ROADSTER
Raids here followed the arrest at Milwaukee Wednesday of Louis McKel, who gave his address as 3333 North Leavitt-ave., Chicago, and Carl Silver, who also declared his home to be in Chicago. The pair fell into a trap set by the federal men and were arrested when they were about to depart.

Beautiful Dumb Queens Hurt Movies, Says Beban

Chicago.—Motion picture actresses are beautiful, but dumb, according to George Beban, screen actor. The actors—that is the man—are not exempted by Mr. Beban, who was in Chicago Friday attending to business matters.

"Eight per cent of the moving picture actors and actresses of today are exhibits," said Mr. Beban. "They are not actors—just exhibits. And that's what's wrong with pictures today. Of the actresses he said:

"Beautiful creatures, these moving picture actresses. There is no denying that. They are striking—Oh so beautiful, but as a rule, so dumb. They never heard of Booth. What does the name of Fiske or Barrymore or Drew mean to them? Ah, nothing at all."

And of the men:

"It is the same with the men of the pictures. Good looking men, men who leap and run and shoot, but few who act."

R. to do Friday before adjourning their fifty-sixth annual encampment. The election of Judge J. W. Willett of Tama, Ia., as commander in chief of the G. A. R. breaks a precedent of 56 years standing. He is the first veteran who served as a sailor during the Civil war, to be chosen.

FORD HAS EYE ON WISCONSIN WATER POWER

Engineers Survey Wisconsin And Kickapoo Rivers, Portage Reports

By Associated Press
Portage, Wis.—Engineers in the employ of Henry Ford have been surveying the Wisconsin and Kickapoo rivers to ascertain their possibilities for waterpower. It was announced here Friday. The object of the move is to develop an electricity plant with a view of establishing a zinc oxide plant for the manufacture of auto tires.

The engineers are expected to look over the Wisconsin river, between Ford River and the mouth of the Wisconsin, below Prairie Du Chien, with the same object in view.

For six months or more representatives of the Ford interests have been mingling with the owners, operators and miners of the zinc producing mines about Platteville, Wis., and it was said they have taken options on certain properties which they will develop if the plans already formulated are not balked.

STEAL TOOLS AND AUTO BUT FAIL IN BANK PLOT

La Crosse, Wis.—Yeggmen who stole an automobile and burglarized a blacksmith shop to get tools, made an unsuccessful attempt to obtain entrance to the safety deposit vault of the LaCrosse State bank at La Crosse, Minn. Thursday night. They knocked off the combination but could not open the door. Forty dollars in pennies was taken from a small safe which was left unlocked. The stolen automobile, taken from a nearby garage, belonged to Miss Mary Olson, Wilmington, candidate for superintendent of schools of Houston county, who was in the village over night.

GUY STILLMAN LEGITIMATE, IS COURT'S RULE

Wife Of Banker Wins Suit—Referee Confirms Misconduct Charges

By Associated Press
Carmel, N. Y.—James A. Stillman, former president of the National City Bank of New York, was denied a decree in his suit for absolute divorce against his wife, Anne U. Stillman, and baby Guy Stillman was declared legitimate in the findings of Daniel J. Gleason, referee in the case which were filed here Friday.

The referee's decision was a complete victory for Mrs. Stillman. Not only was her defense upheld but the referee also confirmed her charges that Mr. Stillman had misconducted himself with Florence H. Leeds, former Broadway show girl, and that Mrs. Leeds had borne two children.

In regard to Mrs. Stillman's charges that her banker husband had also misconducted himself with two other women, identified only as "Helen" and "Clara," Referee Gleason decided that the evidence was not sufficient to prove the allegation of adultery.

The referee wrote the testimony adduced by Mr. Stillman in support of his charges that Mrs. Stillman mis-conducted herself with Fred Beauvais, Indian guide, alleged by the banker to be the father of little Guy Stillman, "uncontradicted and unexplained was sufficient to justify him in believing Mrs. Stillman guilty of the charges made against her."

Careful examination, however, of all the testimony, said his report "has shaken my faith and belief in the testimony of the witnesses called in the plaintiff's behalf."

Through his mother's victory, Guy Stillman retains his rights as an heir with his two brothers and his sister to the $6,000,000 trust fund created for them by their grandfather, the late James Stillman.

ATTORNEYS RETICENT

Two of the banker's attorneys Colonel William Rand and Outbridge Horsey, waiting to hear the decision in Mr. Gleason's office at Poughkeepsie declined to say whether they intended to appeal from the referee's findings.

The referee held that Mr. Stillman had failed to overcome the presumption of legitimacy, "which is one of the strongest known to the law and which cannot be overturned except by evidence which is stronger."

On the other hand, the report found the proof of Mrs. Stillman's recriminating charges that her husband had supported and maintained Florence H. Leeds as his wife and that she had given birth to two children "recognized by him," had been "so overwhelming and convincing that the plaintiff's attorneys frankly stated to the referee that no denial would be made of the charges."

CHARGES BRIBERY

Mrs. Stillman's attorney held, not only offered evidence to establish the untruth and falsity of the evidence of misconduct, by her and Beauvais, but also presented evidence tending to show that agents of Mr. Stillman offered inducements of money and positions to witnesses who would testify that his wife had misbehaved with the Indian guide.

In conclusion, it was recommended that the plaintiff's complaint should be dismissed.

The referee's report, upon motion by either side will go to Supreme court Justice Morschauer for confirmation or rejection. It is expected that Justice Morschauer will uphold the findings of Mr. Gleason.

By Associated Press
Des Moines, Ia.—The statement by Dr. George T. Harding, father of President Harding, that if he were a resident of Iowa, he would vote for Clyde L. Herring, the Democratic candidate for United States Senator, is causing comment in political circles here Friday.

Dr. Harding, who is in Des Moines in connection with the G. A. R. encampment, has been the guest of E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture and has been entertained by Mr. Herring and other members of the Democratic party.

Monday in an interview Dr. Harding said that the Republican candidate for United States Senator, Smith W. Brookhart is a "Socialist," adding that he did not want to see him in Washington causing trouble.

"We have enough of these Socialists in Washington now causing trouble and we don't want any more of them," he declared.

MILL OWNERS AND ALDERMEN THRESH BRIDGE PROBLEMS

Streets And Bridges On 'Island' Discussed At Informal Meeting

At a meeting of the board of public works in the city hall Thursday evening which was attended by the aldermen and manufacturers between Lave and Lake streets, O. F. Weisgerber, city engineer, was instructed to draw imaginary lines of the location of North and South Islands, and submit the blue print at another joint meeting to be called later.

The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the island street and bridge problem which has come before the common council at intervals for several years and which the present administration is endeavoring to settle with the cooperation of the manufacturers.

The streets involved are North Island and South Island and the companies concerned are the Patten Paper Co., Fox River Paper Co., (Telulah mill), Valley Iron Works, Appleton Woolen Mills, Appleton Machine Co. and Appleton Manufacturing & Lumber Co. Most of the bridges in question span the tail races of the mills of these companies.

It is claimed that streets have never been definitely laid out on the island although a certain number of feet were reserved on each piece of property for this purpose. In the early days the streets were used very little and there were few if any bridges upon them. One of the questions to be solved is the establishment of the responsibility of the bridges and whether they should be maintained by the property owners or by the city.

PARKS ARE CONSIDERED

The advisability of drafting a complete set of park regulations was considered. The secretary of the board was instructed to communicate with park boards in other Wisconsin cities with a view of ascertaining what rules are in force there. These rules may serve as a pattern for rules that are to be adopted here.

With the purchase of Edo park by the city, the matter of park planning was discussed. The matter was deferred to a future meeting, however.

Since the city already owns a lot on Prospect-st. near the waterworks plant, the question of erecting a residence for the plant superintendent was considered. It was believed that it would be an advantage to the city to have the superintendent live near the plant to guard against any emergency. The rentals that would accrue from the building were considered a good investment.

It was learned that the reappointment of John Bauer, city plumbing inspector, had been neglected last spring. Mr. Bauer was appointed to fill the unexpired term until next April. He had been serving until his successor was to be appointed.

ALBERT CAMPBELL TENOR HENRY BURR TENOR JOHN MEYER BARITONE FRANK CROXTON BASSO

The Peerless Quartet

Considerable interest has been aroused through the announcement recently made by the Carroll Music Shop that the Eight Famous Victor Artists are to again appear in Appleton, at Lawrence Memorial chapel, on Tuesday evening, Oct. 3.

"What is it that has eight legs and sings?" And the answer is "A Quartet." These who heard the Peerless Quartet when it appeared here last season will speak for the excellence of their ensemble work. For the benefit of those who do not know the men in the organization the following is given.

Albert Campbell, first tenor, has gained fame through his duets with Henry Burr. He has a lyric tenor of pure quality. Small of stature, he is only 5 feet, 4 inches in height and weighs around 130 pounds. His voice is of sufficient volume to fill the largest auditorium.

Henry Burr, second tenor, is probably the most famous American tenor. A feature of his work is his clear enunciation, every word being as plain as it is possible to make it. Burr, while only 2 inches taller than Campbell, doubles his weight and then some.

John Meyer, baritone, for a long time devoted a great deal of his time to church work, having held the position of soloist in a number of New York's best known churches.

Frank Croxton is just what a bass singer is pictured to be. Big of stature, he stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 270 pounds. He has a voice of great beauty and power. Favorably known as a concert and oratorio artist he has foreseen that field for the more interesting talking machine work.

Other members of the Eight Famous Victor Artists are, Billy Murray, tenor-comedian; Monroe Silver, monologist; Rudy Wiedoeft, saxophonist; Frank Banta, pianist. The Sterling Trio, (Campbell-Burr-Meyer) are programmed for several numbers.

The program, to be announced shortly, is entirely new.

PRIZE BREAD WILL BE GIVEN TO NEEDY FAMILIES

The Appleton Welfare Council will be given all the loaves of bread which are entered into the Can't-Beat bread baking contest and will make distribution among the needy families in the city. Several hundred loaves of bread probably will be turned over to the council Monday morning.

End Summer Season

Saturday will be the last day when offices in the city hall and the county courthouse will close at noon. Beginning with the first Saturday in October the regular fall and winter schedule will be in effect. City hall offices will be open until 5 o'clock in the evening, while a number of courthouse offices will close at 4:30.

WOMEN MEN ADMIRE

Men admire a pretty face, a good figure, but more than all a buoyant disposition and the charm of happy content. There is no question but what a light-hearted woman is the joy of a man's life, but no woman can be happy and joyful when dragged down by the ailments that so often develop headaches, backache, nervousness and "the blues."

We are continually publishing in this paper letters from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after doctors and other medicines have failed to help them. If you are ill why not give it a trial.

NEW BUILDINGS COVER ANCIENT CARTHAGE SITE

By Associated Press, Carthage, Tunis, French Africa—The site of ancient Carthage is being sold off and divided into building lots, and the surrounding hills, rich in history, are being slowly covered with residential villas.

Archaeologists point out that if this building is permitted to continue, their excavation work will be seriously hampered, as the new proprietors object to invasions of their yards by workmen, no matter what treasures of history may lie underneath.

Two French government employees of the department of Tunis lately bought a piece of ground on the site of the old city, and before building their house started to find out what was underneath the surface. After patient digging they discovered a temple of Tanit.

Unless the French government stops the sale, real estate agents will shortly put on the market some 240 acres of the site of Carthage, at a total sale price of $200,000.

MADE STURKOW-RYDER the noted pianist, after a recent recital, playing in conjunction with the Apollo, occasioned the following newspaper comment: "The audience was spellbound when, with the use of both ears and eyes, they were at times utterly unable to convince themselves whether the music they heard was from the Apollo Grand being played by Mme. Sturkow-Rydet or from the reproducing Apollo standing alone at one side. Only by watching her hands at times when they were entirely lifted from the piano were they able to tell."

Homes Where Great Pianists Play

THE superb art of the Apollo today adds to the best homes the final touch of distinction. Through this remarkable instrument, the world's great pianists become the intimate companions of the household: — Gabrielowitz, Hoffman, Bauer and many others. The Apollo reproduces, at your pleasure, the very soul of their playing: their touch, their tone, their own interpretation. They play in your home exactly as they play in concert. Nothing is lacking save the physical presence of these great artists.

Ask to hear your favorite selection played by a great artist on the Apollo, without obligation, of course. Or write for catalog.

APPLETON

That's Enough Recommendation

MINIMUM WAGES MUST BE PAID TO STUDENT-CLERKS

Industrial Commission Indorses Training Experiment
In Appleton

That high school students who work in retail stores as a part of their course in cooperative salesmanship should be treated by the management of the stores as employees under the minimum wage law was the recommendation of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission when it met with a committee from Appleton and many prominent educators on Wednesday evening. The legal status of high school students taking practical training in the retail stores was put up to the commission by those who are starting the cooperative course in Appleton. Many others who have heard of the work which is to be done here also were present.

Because the course still is in the experimental stage members of the commission did not feel that an exception to the law as it stands should be made at this time. Any special ruling for these classes probably would lead to many other claims for special rulings. The commission indorses the work of the class as a step toward giving greater value to the students from his theoretical work.

TIP TO MERCHANTS

The matter of handing the student employees on the same basis as employees will be presented to the merchants interested and it is hoped that they will comply with the suggestion of the commission until the right kind of legislation is made to fit this special case. Proper legislation will be pushed as soon as the course has gone beyond the purely experimental stage.

Several merchants expressed their opinion at the meeting in Madison that the slight financial loss to the merchant would be entirely offset by the increased interest of the students and their parents in the problems of retailing. They feel that in time the experiment will have brought great improvements to the business itself and that in the meantime, the increased interest makes the financial problem one which should not stand in the way of the work.

Those from Appleton who were at the meeting were H. L. Post, Miss Decima Salsburg and Chris Mullen. Mr. W. Schalk of Neenah, John Callahan, state superintendent of schools, and several business men and educators from the state, also were guests.

33,800 CARS OF SPUDS THIS YEAR

Potato Shipments Expected To Be Three Times As Large As Last Year

Shipment of Wisconsin potatoes this year will total 33,800 cars, according to estimates of the state crop reporting service—based upon the production forecast of Sept. 1. Last year 12,500 cars were shipped, the year before 19,980 and in 1919 21,800 cars.

Expressed in bushels, available for shipment, the crop service estimates that 29,275,000 bushels will be available, from this year's crop, as compared to 7,500,000 bushels last year, 16,838,000 bushels in 1920, and 14,185,000 in 1919.

Condition of the crop in commercial districts is said to be lower than last month averaging 30.6 per cent in August, and 45.6 per cent for last year's crop at this date. Correspondents of the crop service estimate the subnormal conditions of potatoes to be due to the following factors: Adverse weather, 53 per cent; inferior seed, 14 per cent; insect damage, 19 per cent and plant disease, 14 per cent.

Wisconsin honey crop on Sept. 1 was estimated by the crop reporting service at 491 pounds per colony as compared to 357 pounds produced up to July 1. Production of surplus honey during the summer months, amounting to 13.4 pounds per colony is said to be much below the expectations of producers. With an average fall production, the total honey crop will average 55.1 pounds as compared to 42.2 pounds in 1921, 65.1 pounds in 1920 and 53.7 pounds in 1919.

Total production for the years is estimated at 6,281,000 pounds as compared to 4,728,000 pounds produced in 1921, and 5,231,000 produced in 1920. Condition of colonies on Sept. 1 was estimated to be 32 per cent of full strength and healthfulness and the condition of honey plants to be 79 per cent of normal compared to 70 per cent last year.

Prices asked for honey by producers average as follows: Wholesale, comb, 22 cents per pound, extracted, 13.6 cents. Retail, comb, 27.3 cents per pound; extracted, 17.6 cents.

WOEHLER GIVES BOND OF $2,500 TO FONDY COURT

Edward Woehler of Appleton, who was served a warrant for manslaughter as a result of the accident in which Paul Schweda was killed and he himself was injured, has furnished bail in the sum of $2,500 to insure his appearance in municipal court at Fond du Lac. His hearing has been set for Oct. 12, for it is expected he will be able to appear in court by that time. The complaint was made by Sheriff T. E. Worthing.

THE FALL OF CONSTANTINE

The fall of King Constantine is the natural result of the disastrous war with Turkey. It is, however, something more than that. It shows that the weakness of many Europeans for royalty still continues and has not been entirely cured by the lessons of the World war. It appears that even now Greece is ready to continue royalty by accepting the son of Constantine as its ruler.

What sentiment impelled Greece to give up Venizelos for Constantine has always been a mystery to America. Constantine's chief recommendation for the throne was his membership in royalty. Colonel Reppington's latest diary sheds some valued light on the character and capacity of the government in Greece which has just been overthrown. It reveals Constantine as a complaisant, scheming monarch whose knowledge of what Greece was up against in the conflict with Turkey was quite superficial, and that he had no adequate realization of the perils of his policies.

On the other hand, Greece had in Venizelos a statesman of the first order. Not only did Venizelos guide Greece wisely and successfully through the World war, but he proved his ability to take his place at the council table of Europe with its strongest leaders and secure for his country the largest possible measure of peace benefits. Venizelos brought Greece to a higher plane of prestige and power than the country had enjoyed for generations. He raised her to a really commanding position among the lesser powers in Europe.

Yet when it came to a test of popularity as between Venizelos and Constantine, the Greeks chose the latter by an overwhelming majority and gave up wise and beneficent leadership for a mere shadow of the purple. Greece has been woefully misled and she must pay the penalty. She has already paid it largely in the pressing defeat she received from Turkey, but she has still more to undergo in the loss of influence and standing in Europe. It is improbable that even Venizelos could restore this fallen prestige, and certainly we may not look for it from the son of Constantine. What Greece seems to need is a government by a statesman rather than by royalty. However, it does not appear from the news from Athens that she has yet learned her lesson to the extent that she is ready to profit by it.

THUMBS UP! THUMBS DOWN!

Public opinion is a sentimental state. What the public believes is not what the public thinks, but what it feels, and whoever wishes to be popular must be ready to set conscience and judgment aside and lead the people as a weathervane directs the course of the breezes.

Georges Carpentier, the gladiatorial idol of La Belle France, was pummeled into a comatose heap, in the sixth round, by the Senegalese blackman, Battling Siki. "Gorgeous Georges" preserved the favor of the ring patrons of France and England after Jack Dempsey had punched him into insensibility, because the public believed that Georges' gallantry against a bigger and stronger opponent was grand behavior.

But the temperament of the public was different after Siki floored him with a broken nose, closed eyes and bloody face. The 30,000 spectators jeered and hooted Georges. The press calmly wrote his pugilistic obituary.

Suzanne Lenglen made a humiliating default of the world's tennis championship more than a year ago on the Forest Hill court, and all over the United States, Great Britain and Continental Europe

she was derided as a quitter. When, this year, she stood before a large gallery at Wimbledon, the cold silence of the spectators froze her. But her wonderful triumph there won for her greater acclaim than she ever had enjoyed.

The public strangely tired of the constant supremacy of the victorious Philadelphia Athletics a few years ago. The team's victories and superiority palled the people's enthusiasm. The monotony of success produced the same emotional palsy as defeat.

The public of St. Louis this year jammed the baseball grounds to see and cheer the Browns. No sooner did the chance of the club to win the pennant diminish by the loss of a disheartening game than the ardor of the fans contracted to apathy. And any sudden idea or sentiment may and probably will determine which of the New York clubs will be the favorite for the world's championship.

Yet, there is such a condition as public opinion. The sentiment of the people is like a wild horse, which races where it wills. But public opinion, when it does exist, is susceptible to direction; in fact, it is responsible and trusted leadership which inspires the people to think and make intelligent decisions.

Those who court popularity truckle to sentiment. They blow hot or cold as the people's feelings change. The public perceives their insincerity at last and whisks them away. Those who do not care for sentiment or opinion, but do what they hold to be right earn the respect of the people. The people think through serious belief and public opinion stands behind honest leadership.

OBREGON IMPROVING AGRICULTURE

One of Mexico's worst ills in the past was the concentration of land ownership among a few real estate barons. It is reported the 2,215,890 acres of land have been allotted to 119,649 persons by the Obregon administration. The apportioning, averaging eighteen acres to a person, marks development of agriculture.

Complete recovery in Mexico may be slow. This distribution of land for farming purposes marks one decided change for the better. An industrious, frugal, well behaved, satisfied nation is better than an enslaved, pleasure-seeking, indolent and ignorant.

AMERICAN LUXURY

The passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fe says that travel taste in America is changing; that more room and more comfort and luxury is being demanded, particularly by patrons who travel often and take long journeys. A new type of sleeping car with drawing rooms only has just been designed, each car divided into seven rooms and each room accommodating as many as five persons, with lower and upper double berths, day lounge and bed, and full lavatory equipment, to run over the Chicago-to-California route.

Every year some growing demand of a part of the public, some twist of an inventor's thought, adds to the ease of American life, which traditionally is more luxurious than average existence in any other part of the world. The Pullman plant was established in 1880 and at that time not only did people sleep sitting up when traveling, but a glance at an old "etiquette book" of the day reveals, if memory does not recall it, how many other conveniences were missing. "Few country homes have bathtubs," explains this tome in advising guests to spread an oilcloth on the floor for their ablutions.

There is little virtue in discomfort, a fact of which this continent appears to be better convinced than any land abroad.

EFFICIENCY ON THE FARM

The United States has been a country of abundant natural resources and it has had a spirit untrammelled by tradition. For years the roar and bustle of industrial life appeared like a boundless and thrilling adventure.

Gradually, however, as the natural resources became more circumscribed the feeling grew that as this roar and bustle was attended by much carelessness and waste, then it was that efficiency in industrial processes and products came to be considered.

Farming, because of its vastness, was slower to respond to this efficiency movement. For long the one solid crop had the right of way. But now efficiency has touched the farm, and diversified agriculture is the better order of the day. Cows, sheep and hogs are now employed to bring about a more balanced agriculture.

The skilled breeder, bent on bettering the blood of stock, has appeared together with the skilled stock feeder, who knows how to increase the flow of milk and to put more wool on the backs of sheep. Agriculture has now a trained leadership, made up of specialists who think and know what they are about in farming.—MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL.

Europe, says a traveler just back from abroad, doesn't know corn on the cob. Sometimes Europe acts as if she doesn't even know beans.—DETROIT NEWS.

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. WHY HUSBANDS ARE MERCURIAL

These are curious times for husbands who drink or smoke or swear, for I gather from correspondence with wives that since the bobbed sex has acquired these accomplishments a man can never tell what he may get in his coffee.

One anxious wife writes: "He is now trying to quit by cutting down to three a day, first. I remember reading how a few drops of some kind of mercury in coffee would destroy a man's craving for tobacco without his knowledge. . . . and another, perhaps still more imaginative or credulous declares that she actually did doctor her husband's coffee for a time and the poor fellow got so he could scarcely bear the faintest odor of tobacco, but it didn't last for now he was at it again harder than ever and the lady, alas, had forgotten the name of the tablets. I call that a good memory."

Another woman invites me to find inclosed a stamped addressed envelope—and I can't find it, although I have searched diligently—"for which please tell me how to cure my husband of the smoking habit. He smokes 35 cents worth of tobacco a week and we need the money for other purposes." Now that is an excellent reason why a man shouldn't smoke—his family needs the money for better purposes. The least expensive form of smoking is the pipe, and even if a man uses the most expensive brand of tobacco he can't possibly get away with more than 25 cents worth a week without smoking excessively and injuring his own health. For a man using what is generally considered a fair quality of tobacco 10 or 15 cents a week should cover the cost. A man with a family or dependents of any kind ought to be ashamed to squander money on expensive forms of tobacco.

I must confess that as a school teacher, for I have a new class to teach almost every day instead of every term. There is no remedy which can be secretly administered to a tobacco, alcohol or drug addict to overcome his craving. It is useless to attempt to cure such habits without the earnest cooperation of the addict himself. I have no tobacco cure for any one, but I am glad to send helpful suggestions to any tobacco user who wishes to write to me and ask to help him overcome the habit. Don't ask for my tobacco cure, just tell me what habit you have and for how long you've had it and what you want to quit for. And that will do.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

City Life and Country Life

How often do you consider it necessary for the average person, living in the city, to bathe in order to keep the skin in good condition?—(Mrs. M. A.)

Answer—City dwellers must have more frequent body washes than country dwellers; the smoke and dust and grime of the city soil the skin. So far as the condition of the skin is concerned, the less bathing the better the condition. I mean the less bathing with soap and water. The grime and dirt of civilization must be washed off, of course; as often as every week for some persons. Clothing prevents natural cleansing of the body by evaporation of the sweat and by the disinfection, oxidation and deodorizing of body excretions by the air and sunlight. So that the more clothing we wear the more frequently must we wash the body; on very dirty cases as often as every day.

The Child's Afternoon Nap

Should a child aged four years be made to sleep in the daytime if she remains in the room two hours without sleeping and only frets and feels cross the rest of the day?—(Mrs. L. B. L.)

Answer—Every normal youngster under the age of seven ought to be treated to a nice nap, an hour in duration after mid-day meal each day. If the child is not accustomed to taking this tonic, you must exercise some patience, but more perseverance, in training into the habit. You can't make a child sleep, but you can make her go to bed for an hour. If you stick to the program for three or four days inflexibly but gently, the child will learn to nap, all right. And it is a valuable aid in building health in childhood.

MUCH DEPENDS ON

FLEXIBILITY FEATURE

With the Fordney-McCumber tariff law in effect editors are watching with great interest the operation of the flexibility feature, inserted in the bill at the request of President Harding. Criticism of the law as finally completed generally is unfavorable but there is a disposition on the part of Republican editors to argue that, if the President acts wisely in increasing his newly conferred power to revise rates, the law may prove a beneficial one.

Hope for the public after all rests with the President, the New York TRIBUNE (Rep.), argues, and his "new job is not an enviable one. Yet if he makes his labor as a tariff revisor a memorable contribution to the progress and economic stability none will be more delighted than those who have been able to find little comfort in the Fordney-McCumber bill." The Washington STAR (Ind.), likewise assumes that the "flexibility" feature of the measure will prove its supreme test and it holds that "it is a courageous, not to say audacious, thing which the President has done. He has put himself in for much trouble, and during the next two years he is likely to find himself more sorely beset than any of his predecessors ever were." The Savannah PRESS (Dem.), with a wealth of sarcasm, assails the "free list" of the measure citing the various articles included to show that they are of little benefit to the ultimate consumer and adding that "we do not see how the Fordney-McCumber crowd is to be kept out of the list of public benefactors and public philanthropists from the thought that has been given to the things that are to stay on the free list."

The bill will curb exports, the Newark NEWS (Ind.), argues, because "as a nation we produce beyond our actual needs and the disposal abroad of some ten per cent of production, therefore, makes much of the difference between prosperity and depression so we must make up our mind to pay for the tariff not alone in an era of higher prices at home, but in a falling off in exports, including raw materials. The agriculturalist will be bound to feel the pinch every whit as much as the manufacturer for export." In the view of the Milwaukee JOURNAL (Ind.), the measure "was written, not by Congress in the interest of the country, but by the interests seeking a profit for themselves." Even if it should prove "the best tariff ever written," the delay in perfecting it, and the time wasted on it, will make it "an expensive piece of legislation," the Cleveland NEWS (Rep.), argues, and it holds that "the new tariff threatens to be the best argument ever offered in favor of duties fixed by some other agency than Congress—an innovation not to be sought through Congressional consent." The law is "admittedly for the purpose of pegging prices against recession," says the Philadelphia EVENING BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.), and "if the elastic provision of the measure shall prove actually operative in injustice attempted by the tariff rates may be checked. The 'if' is the big factor which may determine the ultimate verdict of the people on the bill and its sponsors."

This is also the opinion entertained by the Cleveland PLAIN DEALER (Ind. Dem.), holding that "if the plan to meet the changing demands of trade and commerce functions to advantage it is conceivable that no attempt will be made to revise or revise the entire tariff law for many years to come. The effect of the act however is entirely a speculation. Now to protect the home market against foreign competition and at the same time compel the importer to pay duties whereunto to support the government is a problem that the present protectionist congress, like those that have preceded it, has been unable to solve."

It is the opinion of the Raleigh NEWS and OBSERVER (Dem.), that the bill will impose on the consumer "an annual tax of three billion dollars," and it holds that the new law "is a quarter of a century out of date," while, according to the Nashville BANNER (Ind.), this "return to normalcy is a return to the old, and as the country had thought, discredit, a system of a tariff for the benefit of a few favored interests, at the expense of the masses. And that is 'normalcy.' The mystery is solved. It means taxing the average citizen into distress and, many times, into actual want, for the profit of the protected few. It is a pretty word 'normalcy.' But the scorpion is a pretty creature. The night shade has a pretty flower. And the tax-collectors' pathology have bestowed upon the most beautiful of names 'Normalcy.' The measure probably will not remain law for very long in the view of the Chicago DAILY NEWS (Ind.), which points out the "five Republican senators, four of them highly influential and widely respected for ability and character, voted against the tariff bill in the new division. This is significant. If a few more independent or insurgent republicans take seats in the senate a year hence, the democrats will expect and receive considerable Republican support in an effort to revise the Fordney-McCumber tariff downward."

The bill, however, has "an assured life of two years," the Detroit FREE PRESS (Ind.), believes and if the flexible plan works out as hoped "it prospect that it will be renewed and continue to play a large part in all future tariff making will be bright." But should it fall in expectations, then, the Indianapolis NEWS (Ind.), says, the blame "will rest, not with Congress but with the President. It is hard to realize that men could, in the present state of the world, pass a bill which might be so suddenly renealed a bill for the protection of scarcity." The Providence JOURNAL,

(Ind.), suggests that "so far as the law is concerned, it is a passing bill, and what is going to happen," while the Worcester TELEGRAM (Rep.) holds that "the significant thing about it is that the strongest expression of admiration found for it by its supporters are that it probably will not be as bad as it looks to be." "Experience only will show its worth," the Springfield UNION (Rep.), also insists, and "if it is economically wrong and injurious, its operation will soon show it. There is, however, this element of certainty that, if this protective tariff does not prove to be beneficial to American industry, it will be the first time in our history that a protective tariff has so failed."

Because the United States now is a "leading nation," the Richmond NEWS LEADER (Ind. Dem.), characterizes the new law as "falling little short of insane folly," and the Wheeling REGISTER (Dem.), cannot see how President Harding could veto the "soldiers' bonus act and sign the tariff measure because, under the latter, "the profiteering manufacturer instead of taking a reasonable profit and leaving a difference in the price of American made goods and foreign made goods, immediately boosts American goods' prices to meet those of the foreign made goods plus the duty which Uncle Sam collects and puts in the treasury."

AMERICAN METHODS MAY HELP EUROPE.

Paris—American agriculture and economy may become important factors in the economic restoration of Europe, says a writer in the Paris ECLAIR.

"If the American people have resolved not to take part in European political affairs, it must not be imagined that they have no interest in the economical situation of the Old World," he says. "On the contrary they desire most fervently the economic restoration of Europe, especially the farmers, whose political activity is as we know, remarkable."

"A large number of American farmers have formed a powerful organization directed by competent leaders. This organization means to propose reforms which they think necessary for the development of American agricultural prosperity."

"Until now they have not paid much attention to any other continent but their own, but they are beginning to realize that their prosperity is dependent in a large degree, on the purchase power of the European continent. They produce indeed much more than their own continent needs, and it is impossible for them to find the necessary markets in Asia, South America, and Australia, as these countries export themselves agricultural products. So that only Europe remains."

"Our continent has indeed a great need of capital, but its purchasing power is small on account of the present economic disorganization that it is impossible to buy all that is necessary. In the first place the American farmers want to help Europe to be able to buy their corn by giving them all facilities of payment in goods. They propose also to admit European state bonds as payment."

"These measures would greatly improve the economic situation of Europe, and it seems that these proposals are not only regarded favorably by the agricultural population of the United States, but also by many owners of state bonds."

"On account of the present heavy taxes on American industry, capitalists hesitate to start new enterprises, and run risks which would only bring in small profits on account of the taxes. So they prefer to invest their money in state papers exempt from taxation."

"Thus United States capitalists would welcome European state bonds if they were admitted to the American market with proper guarantees."

"This shows that the present disposition of American agriculture and economy are of the greatest interest and may become important factors in the economic restoration of Europe."

"Old grads" of Sivas, Vampus and Whooist Colleges feel a thrill as of days of yore when the whistle blows for the start of the annual football season. Under-graduates with clenched fists, in almost prayerlike frenzy, will be imploring their beloved eleven to "hold that line" or "break up that forward pass," or all the students which start the blood circulating through the veins with an intoxicating exuberance none can compare with the college game of football. A well trained team playing with the accuracy of a machine carrying the ball down the field arouses college enthusiasm of the highest order.

At no other sport is the enthusiasm so well organized as in the cheering of the students. For no other events will thousands brave inclement weather to shiver for more than an hour for mere enjoyment. Truly football has as its devotees those whose love for the sport in addition to their college spirit gives them many a thrill at success and many a heartache at failure, for success means failure for the opponents. It is great, however, for the losers to have the feeling "They failed, fighting."—PITTSBURG CHRONICLE TELEGRAPH.

A VISION AND A CURE.

London.—A Rome correspondent of the Observer says the pretty little Tuscan village of Lucignano, near Siena, has been the scene of a remarkable cure. A peasant woman, Pasqua Bruni, who had been desperately ill for over a year, with both legs paralyzed, completely blind, and unable to articulate, has suddenly recovered her health through a vision of the Virgin Mary.

Start Of The Movies

Will Day gathers up a museum exhibition showing the historical development of the movie. The start? Chinese shadow-shows, at least 400 years ago.

The Chinese stretched a bullock's hide parchment, thin and almost transparent, before a brightly burning lamp. On this parchment the audience saw shadows of wax figures, moved like puppets in front of the flame.

It took thousands of years to develop that lamp into the modern moving picture projecting machine and to evolve the moving shadows on the parchment into the figures that enchant us on the silver screen. Time amounts to very little, in the long history of progress.

Will Day's museum exhibition in London shows one of the early attempts at moving pictures. Sir John Herschell's "Thaumatrope," or spinning disk. A dog is drawn on one side of the disk, an empty kennel on the other. Hold it to the light. Revolve it. The dog appears to jump out of the kennel.

The Thaumatrope was sold on the streets as a scientific toy. That's all that most people in those days thought the moving picture idea would amount to. It isn't long since people had the same notion about radio, flying machines and autos.

London makes a concession to its merchants and permits the erection of buildings 140 feet high. The tallest building over there is Whitehall Court, a clubhouse, 110 feet high. We Americans wouldn't have anything taller if high land values didn't force us up into the air.

Sad days for Pinhas Rutenberg, Russian engineer. He has a concession from the British government for the production of electric light and power with exclusive right for 70 years to utilize the waters of River Jordan and Tarmuk. The Turks may keep M. Rutenberg very busy for the rest of his natural existence. Yet when the House of Commons voted him the monopoly last July 4, the sailing looked clear. You never can tell what the morrow will bring forth, anywhere, these troublous times.

Lord Leverhulme, king-pin of British manufacturers, who made his money in soap, says that American ownership of three-fourths of the world's gold is not as great an asset as our habit of early rising. Yes, and our national debt is not half as great a liability as Satan's invention, the alarm clock.

A "glass stomach that digests foods" is perfected by chemists of the Department of Agriculture. Food is put into it, pepsin is added, also hydrochloric acid to the amount existing normally in the real stomach. An incubator keeps the mixture at stomach temperature, 37 degrees centigrade.

By experiments the glass stomach is expected to teach us a lot about what to eat and how to cook it to make it digest.

The stomach and other organs are nothing but machines. Do you take as good care of your body-machine as your silver?

Q. What is a body politic? E. L. A.

A. A good definition of a body politic is found in the preamble to the constitution of the state of Massachusetts, as follows: "The body politic is formed by a voluntary association of individuals; it is a social compact by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good. It is the duty of the people, therefore, in framing a constitution of government to provide for an equitable mode of making laws, and to execute faithfully and impartially the laws, that every man may at all times find his security in them." In other words, a body politic exists for the purposes of government, and its powers may extend to complete control over the lives, liberty and property of its people. These purposes as stated in the preamble to the Constitution of the perfect union, "to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

A. Rutland is the smallest county, containing but 152 square miles.

Q. Why is land at the mouth of a river called a delta? K. C. T.

Q. How fast is the solar system moving? P. F. E.

A. The solar system is moving with a velocity of about 12 miles a second towards a point in the constellation Hercules whose approximate right ascension is 270 degrees and declination 34 degrees north.

Q. Did Stephen A. Douglas outlive Lincoln? H. C.

A. Douglas, who was Lincoln's opponent for the Presidency in 1860, died June 3, 1861, while Lincoln lived to be re-elected to the office.

Q. Who is the head of Scotland Yard? Why was it called that? K. H.

A. Scotland Yard is the headquarters of the Metropolitan Police of London and is situated within a stone's throw of the House of Parliament in southwest London. Formerly the department was housed in a group of buildings surrounding a courtyard near Charing Cross. It derived its name, Scotland Yard, from a palace assigned from the time of Edgar to Henry II as the residence of the Scottish kings when they visited in London. The present head is Sir Edward Henry, Commissioner.

The Chief is appointed by the Crown upon recommendation of the Home Secretary. The yearly cost of Scotland Yard, according to the latest published statistics, is $15,000,000.

Q. Why is the originator of the system of fingerprint as identification, which is rapidly superseding the Bertillon system in all countries, called December when decem means ten? A. L.

GRIDDERS IN GOOD SHAPE FOR NEENAH

High School Boys Have Had Strenuous Week Preparing For Game

The squad was given a week of drill and practice on the football grid instead of on the playgrounds. Severe discipline has been exercised and the boys are in good shape. ALLOT RENEWALS BY DISTRICTS FOR 'Y' MEMBER DRIVE

Concentration Of Efforts To Be Aim Of Teams When Soliciting Begins

Concentration of effort will be the policy of the Y. M. C. A. in conducting its membership campaign this year. The city has been divided into districts and each team will work within a prescribed territory. The solicitation opens Friday evening, Oct. 6.

Division of the city is made on the basis of renewal so each team will have an equal number to deal with and an equal chance to score in the color contest. Forty-four membership renewals are allotted to each captain, and just enough blocks are included in his territory to give him this number. There are 24 districts for the men's teams. The boys will have four teams working at large.

Names of 100 prospects also will be issued to each team and these will be worked with the renewals. A cleanup will be made as far as possible in the first two days and a house-to-house canvass will be arranged for the wind-up. The goal will be 1,400 members and 20,000 in money.

Campaigns of other years have been conducted with duplication of territory because the cards were distributed without regard to location. This will be eliminated under the new plan. A large map of the city has been prepared, and the home of each member is designated.

Small city maps also will be prepared for each captain, with his particular territory marked out for him.

'Traffic Rules' Stop Congestion In High School

One by one, the registration at Appleton high school is creeping up toward the 1950 mark. The number of students who are expected to attend the school before the close of the year. On Thursday, the registration had reached 1020, which is 115 more than last year.

There are so many children in the school this year that in order to avoid all casualties, punctures, bent fenders and broken springs the children must obey a set of traffic rules. The rules include a speed limit which eliminates running through the halls when classes are passing, certain stairways for going upstairs, others for going down, one to enter the assembly room and the other to leave it. The general rule of keep to the right at all times is being followed. Should many more students be added to the high school, it is possible that student traffic policemen will have to be appointed. These could be stationed at either end of the hall and in the center. The traffic cop would make a speeders' court a natural thing and fines for violations could be used for the new junior high school buildings.

DON'T ENVY TITLED IF POOR, IS ADVICE

London—It is hard to be relatively poor, yet compelled by the circumstances of birth to hide the fact and even play the part of a mad cap spender.

A certain lord writes to a London newspaper: "I have to wear a tall hat and the tail coat of conventionality. I have to tip well and cheerfully, and at the same time count every penny. When friends from abroad come to town I have to entertain them—which is a pleasure, but oh! the plotting and the planning and mean little economies that I have to practice! Without a title I should be a comparatively happy man. But I inherited it and I cannot shed it."

"A wealthy American once said to me, 'You British peers have a jolly good time!' I tried to explain to him that we too had responsibilities, but he countered this by saying, 'I would give anything to be a man of title.' And I would have given a great deal to be plain 'Mr.' with all his money."

YOUNG MISSION SOCIETY MAKING GREAT STRIDES

The Woman's Missionary society of the United Lutheran church, of which the society of Trinity English Lutheran church is an integral part, is now convening at First Lutheran church, Pittsburg.

Although the organization is only four years old, it counts its contributions by the hundreds of thousands of dollars, and numbers 2,000 societies with 64,000 members. During the last two years the literature department of the society reported sales of its publication totalling more than 300 per cent of the sales for the first two years. The amount collected the first biennium was $261,000, that for the biennium just passed $650,000.

The convention at Pittsburg will include among other features a pageant "The Search for Light," to be presented in Carnegie hall by the Lutheran churches of the city. Prominent among the speakers is Dr. Ida S. Scudder, president of the Vellore Medical college, India, who will speak on "Medical Work in India." Vellore college is one of the seven Christian colleges for women in the orient, was established four years ago, and is supported by 12 denominational missionary societies. Other speakers of national prominence will be Mrs. E. C. Cronk, Richmond, Va., and Dr. F. H. Knobel, New York, president of the United Lutheran church.

GEN. KING ASSIGNED TO MILITARY SCHOOL

Veteran General, Retired Sept.
11, Reinstated By Pres.
Harding

Hundreds of Appleton guardsmen who have served under General Charles King, head of the Wisconsin national guard, who was retired from service on Sept. 11, will be pleased to learn that he has been reinstated by President Harding and assigned to St. John Military academy, Delafield, as professor of military science and tactics.

At the time he was retired as a lieutenant colonel of the United States army, scores of influential friends protested, feeling that his usefulness as a disciplinarian and teacher of military tactics was too valuable to warrant such action.

The retirement was made because of a congressional reduction in the national guard appropriation. General King is given credit for having inspired the Wisconsin troops to attain their excellent record for efficiency.

He was born in Albany, N. Y., and will be 78 years old Oct. 12. His military career began at the age of 12, when he became mascot in the First Wisconsin militia, of which his father, Col. Rufus King, was commander. He became a drummer in 1859 of the Milwaukee Light Guard and at the age of 17 he was mounted orderly in the "Iron Brigade" army of the Potomac in 1861. In 1862 he was appointed by President Lincoln to West Point and later became an instructor there. In 1874 he began his Indian campaign, commanding a troop in the Apache uprising in Arizona, and was wounded at Sunset Pass. He became adjutant in the Sioux campaign, in which the Custer massacre took place. Gen. King achieved distinction in the Philippines in the Spanish-American war as a brigadier general.

BISHOP BURNS TO ADDRESS DISTRICT M.E. LEADERS HERE

Booster Banquet For Centenary Campaign Is To Be Held Oct. 18

Appleton is to entertain one of the most important Methodist gatherings of the year when about 200 pastors and lay representatives of churches of the Appleton district assemble here for a banquet on Oct. 18. Arrangements are in charge of Dr. J. H. Tippet, superintendent of the district.

Bishop Wesley Burns, head of the Montana area of the Methodist churches of America, is to be in Appleton at that time to deliver an address.

It is the purpose of the gathering to develop enthusiasm for the windup of the $2,000,000 centenary campaign which Methodists have been conducting.

Invitations will be sent to all leading persons of the churches in Appleton district. A conference of stewards with Dr. Tippet is planned for that day, with a luncheon at noon.

"Road Mope" Is Latest Pest To Annoy Autoists

Now comes the "road mope," the motorist who insists on standing upon his constitutional right to the "pursuit of happiness," in a leisurely contemplation of nature as he ambles along the country road, or is oblivious of any other automobile upon the street but his own. Daily he is getting more attention and epithets.

Remember the fellow at the head of a long string of cars with his own throttled down to 10 or 12 miles an hour, and how you tried to wiggle out of line, only to cut in again a car ahead at the risk of a bent fender or running into a car coming from the opposite direction? That's the fellow—up ahead.

His presence is particularly objectionable where rules against "cutting in" are in force.

Often the "road mope's" timidity in driving the car, or his squeamishness over the many road rules brings about this peculiar mental attitude. But more often because he is selfish. In the city there is no excuse for this, with the wider pavements in the country, the machine that desires to speed up to the limit of 30 miles an hour has the right of way, for under the law all machines must "keep to the right." Much of the annoyance caused by the "road mope" could be eliminated if he were required to follow this rule. It some cases he has been crowded off the road. Try Post-Crescent Want Ad

Joseph H. Jones And V. R. Rule In Net Of Federal Agents

Five cases of whiskey and fifty gallons of grain alcohol. The automobile in which they were riding, a 1920 Ford, was confiscated by the officers, who had it in their possession when they came to Appleton.

A leather bound notebook found in possession of one of the men formed the clue which brought the raiders to Appleton. The book is said to have contained a list of customers of Market and Silver and that the names of Jones and Rule were among them. According to the homes here were visited. Many other places are being raided simultaneously in Chicago and in other parts of Wisconsin, and it is expected that at least 15 men will be caught in the federal net.

Telephone calls were the means of unearthing the ring. The federal men went to Hotel Marquette and Silver, and telephoned Marquette and Silver, ordering five cases of whiskey to be delivered to an east side Milwaukee address. Fictitious names were given. Near midnight on Tuesday the two liquor peddlers are said to have arrived with the whiskey and were arrested.

RAP "DECOY" EVIDENCE

Preliminary examination of Marquette and Silver in Milwaukee was continued to Saturday morning and bail was fixed at $1,500 each. It is said that the "decoy" evidence tactics will be the basis of defense in the trial. Federal Judge Geiger has indicated in a decision that evidence of this kind is not sufficient to convict for violation of federal laws.

Bank books taken from the Chicago men were displayed by Kantocheff here and showed more than $5,000 had been deposited within slightly more than a week.

AUTOISTS LEARN TO USE PARKING LINES

New Marking System On College-ave. Is Success—Police Ask Aid

Autoists caught the idea quite readily Thursday of the white parking marks on College-ave but a few were gone to overlook their presence and "hog" more than their share of space at the curb.

Chief George T. Prim and members of the police department are trying to educate drivers to the meaning of the marks and their proper use and it is expected that parking will become uniform in a short time. No arrest late will be attached to come until ample time has been given to become accustomed to the change.

"I want the cooperation of every driver in this matter of parking," said Chief Prim. "Cars are supposed to approach the curb within one of the spaces shown by the white marks. Their purpose is two-fold. They will permit each machine to take only a certain amount of space and many more can be parked within a block than under the old hit-or-miss plan. No car that parks according to the lines will be so close to another or at an off angle so another driver will be hemmed in and can't back away without a collision."

The lines extend away from the curb at an angle and provide a space for each car with a margin on each side so there is no difficulty in adhering to the regulations.

SPIED TODAY

There apparently is a misunderstanding on the part of some readers of the Post-Crescent of the "I Spied Today" section of this paper. It was established to report unusual news happenings which escape reporters on the Post-Crescent staff. It is not for the purpose of printing jokes, anecdotes, fairy stories or editorial comment. If the items you submitted are not printed it means they were not the kind that were wanted. The Post-Crescent wants reports of happenings with a human interest element in them. Please read the instructions in the adjoining columns and write about unusual happenings in your neighborhood. Two tickets to Fischer's Appleton Theatre will be given for every item printed.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THAT

THEY'RE ALL FLAPPERS

Flappers, flappers everywhere. I have come to the conclusion that women of all ages are flappers—I have been an interested spectator and today from my point of observation I spied two elderly flappers of 1922 vamping a man on his motor car—I couldn't quite decide which. The man, a very ordinary creature withstood the advances bravely and turned a glassy eye till suddenly around the corner pops Miss 1921 with short skirts, bobbed hair and saucy flash of sequined bloomers when she raced up to the man. Busby's Business college steps. Need less to say the brave man fell and his motor car whizzed breezily away leaving two elderly long skirted flappers very disappointed and decidedly catty about a certain "bold snip."

WISE FOR HIS YEARS

I was sitting on our porch when a neighbor's little boy, about four years old, became naughty and as he was about to be punished he squeezed through a small opening under our porch. His mother who was inclined to be stern, called sternly to him to come out but he giggled and said, "No, you come in here and get me."

GOOD WORD FOR A COP

There's a mighty kind and thoughtful policeman on the Appleton Police Force.

He was standing on the crossing directing the restless traffic, when a woman seemed to become "rattled" and couldn't shift the levers of her machine.

The officer promptly stepped up and gave her a little advice, speaking a soothing word or two at the same time. Promptly the car started on its way.

The traffic was just delayed long enough to make every one smile.

NO PROFITEERING HERE

As I was waiting for the S. 23 train at the Chicago and Northwestern depot I noticed a man who looked rather shabby in dress, and seemed to be financially depressed.

I asked him where he was going. In a hesitating manner he told me he was bound for Green Bay with the intention of joining the navy. I don't know how he was going to get there, but a few minutes before train time he left the station and the last time I saw him was when he jumped on the tender of the engine as the train was leaving. He had to "beat his way" to get into Uncle Sam's services.

H. M. N.

THE CHANGING WORLD

I saw an old-fashioned buckboard drawn by an old white horse that was hitched in front of a store on College-ave. There was nothing very unusual about the horse; there was nothing very strange about the buggy. Yet more people looked twice at the horse drawn vehicle than looked at the costly automobile that was parked near by. Did the same people stare the same way at the automobile twenty years ago?

G. A. F.

WE NEED MORE OF 'EM

I didn't spy, but I heard. A certain city official who is usually on the job at 8 o'clock in the morning and who usually can be found in his office at 8 o'clock in the evening, on leaving at that time or a little later, told one of his subordinates to "Be sure and not forget to call me should you need me at any time." That, I think, means that a city official has a great deal of interest in his work and that it is not such a snap job as some people think it is to work for the city.

D. L. S.

NO BOTTLES IN IT

While walking past the Northwestern depot, a traveling man alighted from a train, walked briskly down the platform. A number of people looked at him with amusement. He noticed them and looked in the direction of their gaze, and to his surprise found his valise had opened showing its contents.

SHOULD BE ARRESTED

It happened last week but: A man walking close to the curbing on upper Washington street dropped a milk bottle and walked on, leaving enough splinters to puncture a dozen tires. A few minutes later a delivery boy came out from a neighboring house, got on his bike, hesitated when he saw the broken bottle, and then got off and picked up the pieces.

C. D.

THE AIR WAS BLUE

The photographer prepared his camera, helpers were ready to set off the flash and all that remained was to wait until the first program at Fischer's Appleton theatre was finished so that a flashlight photograph could be taken of the decorations on the playhouse and the crowd around the door. All at once the doors opened and out flocked the crowd, jamming the sidewalks with humanity. The photographer took one more look, set off the fuse for the flashlight and just as it exploded a street car ran right ahead of the camera. Then they had to do it all over again.

R. D. S.

KINDNESS UNREQUITED

I saw an object lesson in appreciation. Several dozen bananas dropped off a fruit peddler's wagon and were scattered along the road. A man on the sidewalk helped him pick them up. The peddler did not offer him anything in return for the favor, although the man expected he would. There was about a dozen left on the road to be picked up, and the man got even with the peddler by hurriedly scooping them up and treating all the kids on the sidewalk.

TOWNSEND TO WIN BUT FACES LOSS IN VOTES

was here as elsewhere on that grievance.

Again in Michigan as in Ohio, the public has the impression that Mr. Harding wasn't firm enough in the strike crisis. No one could forward with a concrete suggestion as to what he might have done—opinion hasn't crystallized on alternatives—but the labor people criticize the president for what he did while the business men criticize him for what he didn't do and between the two elements the administration must expect some losses even in this realm of Republicanism. Henry Ford's shutdown of his various plants didn't last long enough to develop any more disaffection than was noticeable before he closed down. The automobile king is friendly to the candidacy of former Governor Ferris. That's natural for Ford ran against Newberry in the famous campaign which caused all the commotion and is now being referred to by those who have fought and are fighting against Senator Townsend. Ford's support will be an asset to Ferris in Wayne county which embraces populous Detroit.

Not an insignificant aspect of the campaign here is the persistence of the wet and dry issue. Many of the nominees for office both in the state campaign and on the congressional ticket are wets. Many observers, including some newspaper editors here, profess to see a change in prohibition sentiment. Wayne county voted 32,000 against prohibition originally but the claim now is that the wets are getting a toe hold in the other cities of the state. The cry for a modification of the Volstead Act is raised here mostly because violation of the law is so conspicuous.

Women who register at hotels without affixing "Miss" or "Mrs." to their names may find it an advantage to conceal their identity in public records, but one charming young woman who did so at the Sherman house Thursday night has decided that it is better to state all the facts than repeat her experience.

It happened that the woman and a railroad conductor of the Chicago and Northwestern road having the same name but different initials both were staying at the hotel.

In the middle of the night a train dispatcher called the hotel "Tell Mr. — to report on No. 102," he told the night clerk, meaning the conductor was wanted for duty on that train, which arrives in the wee small hours.

Scouring through the register, the clerk located the name, but happened to pick that of the woman. Repeated ringings finally brought a "hello," that sounded like that of a man because of the drowsiness mixed with the response.

"Call from the junction says you are to report on 102," said the clerk. By this time the voice sounded clearly, and a sweet feminine interog-

APPLETON STREET

MORE HELP NEEDED FOR CITY ENGINEER MAYOR REUTER SAYS

Weissgerber Can't Find Time
To Fill A Half Dozen
City Jobs

A problem exists in the street and engineering department that is puzzling the heads of the city government. The solution of that problem, as seen by Mayor Henry Reuter and several aldermen, may require a reorganization of the two departments.

Although the special charter provides for the appointing of both a city surveyor or engineer and a street commissioner, both these offices have been coordinated in Appleton since 1907. The present city engineer, Oscar F. Weissgerber, also is street commissioner and is therefore entrusted not only with construction of streets, bridges, reservoirs and sewers but also with the supervision of the upkeep of streets.

Mayor Reuter made a careful study of the two departments this summer and, after several conferences with members of the street and bridge committee and other aldermen, he reached the conclusion that the present system of organization is unsatisfactory. Council members agree with him that a change of some kind is necessary.

TOO MUCH WORK

It appears that the present city engineer, filling both positions, besides being park commissioner, weed commissioner, secretary of the city planning commission and chairman of the water commission is overburdened with the work.

The presence of the city engineer was required at many projects at the same time this summer. Extensive repairs were made necessary by heavy rains, a large number of sewers were laid, new streets were opened to traffic. A considerable amount of work was furnished in assisting Professor Smith in the city planning and zoning project and in cooperation with bridge construction engineers and the state highway department on Appleton bridge matters. This work is bound to increase, and next year may find the engineer more burdened than ever, Mayor Reuter said.

BEST IN STATE

A frank discussion with the engineer and several aldermen led to the belief that either one of two changes are necessary. One plan is to separate the two departments and place them under the two distinct heads, namely a city engineer and a street commissioner. According to this plan both men would work independently of each other. The other plan suggested is to retain Mr. Weissgerber as street commissioner and engineer, and provide him with an assistant engineer.

Preference among city officials is for the latter plan. It is believed that the services of Mr. Weissgerber as a street commissioner are too valuable to dispense with. Professor Smith recently made the statement that there are few engineers in the state that show the practical knowledge of Appleton's engineer, especially in the matter of streets.

Arrangements for an Armistice day celebration on Nov. 11 will be discussed by Oney Johnson post of the American legion at its monthly meeting in Elk hall Monday evening.

Several other important business matters are up for action and an entertainment program will follow.

WYOMING SCHOOL HONORS FORMER APPLETON MAN

"Merica Hall," the women's dormitory of the University of Wyoming has recently been named for the late Charles O. Merica, who was president of the university for many years. Dr. Merica was a former professor at Lawrence college and principal of Appleton high school.

The women's dormitory at the University of Wyoming had always been known as the Women's dormitory, but at a recent meeting of the board of trustees, it was voted to honor the past president of the institution by naming the building for him. Dr. Merica was owner and publisher of the Kendallville News Sun at Kendallville, Ind. at the time of his death.

COMMUNITY SERIES ARTIST HAS HAD INTERESTING CAREER

When Louis Graveure, the noted baritone comes to Appleton on Jan. 22 as one of the Community Lecture and Artist series, he will include a great variety of music in his program. Mr. Graveure sings in many languages and uses operatic selections, folk songs, classical songs and funny songs in his repertoire.

Mr. Graveure has had an interesting career as a sculptor and architect before he became a singer. His voice was a rich basso profundo, which his friends insisted was his greatest gift. Following their advice he went to France and to Germany to study. Over-study caused a near breakdown, but instead of taking a rest, he went to work as a fisherman on the smacks out of Plymouth and Fowey.

Just as he was about to make his debut as a bass baritone, he had an attack of diphtheria and lost his voice entirely. He could do nothing for months and finally went to South Africa and then returned to Canada. On his way from South Africa to Canada, he found that his voice was returning, but it became a pure baritone rather than a bass. He began his career in the United States in 1915 and has made his home in New York ever since.

Tickets for the series are on sale at the present time. The reservation of season ticket seats will begin on Oct. 6.

98 Out of Every 100 Women Benefited

An Absolutely Reliable Statement Important to Every Woman

Remarkable Results Shown by a Nation Wide Canvass of Women Purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. 50,000 Women Answer

For some time a circular has been enclosed with each bottle of our medicine bearing this question: "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

Replies, to date, have been received from over 50,000 women answering that question.

98 per cent of which say YES. That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take the medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This is a most remarkable record of efficiency. We doubt if any other medicine in the world equals it.

Think of it—only two women out of 100 received no benefit—98 successes out of a possible 100.

Did you ever hear of anything like it? We must admit that we, ourselves, are astonished.

Of course we know that our medicine does benefit the large majority of women who take it. But that only two out of 100 received no benefit is most astonishing.

It only goes to prove, however, that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure all—one that is made by the most scientific process; not from drugs, but from a combination of nature's roots and herbs, can and does do more good than hastily prepared prescriptions.

You see, we have been making, improving and refining this medicine for over 50 years until it is so perfect and so well adapted to women's needs that it actually has the virtue to benefit 98 out of every 100 women who take it.

It's reliability and recognized efficiency has gained for it a sale in almost every country in the world—leading all others.

Such evidence should induce every woman suffering from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if she can't be one of the 98

TAG DAY HERE TO RAISE FUNDS FOR BED IN HOSPITAL

St. Elizabeth Club Needs More Money To Provide Care For Needy

More than 50 young girls will be on the streets Saturday tagging for the free bed fund of St. Elizabeth club. The tag day will begin at 9 o'clock and continue through until evening. Headquarters will be established in the "Woman's rest room" of the Sherman house.

Although St. Elizabeth club has procured money from its weekly card parties and other activities, the free bed fund is as yet far from enough to pay the expenses of the needy patients who should have hospital care. The club was established in order that money could be raised to maintain one or more free beds in the new St. Elizabeth hospital. The club hopes to have a large fund by the time the hospital addition is ready for use. As soon as one free bed has been provided for, the club will begin work on a second.

Before the establishment of the free bed fund, the sisters at the hospital took care of many cases for which the people were unable to pay. Many cases which should have been given treatment could not be accommodated for lack of space and funds. The club will make it possible to handle more cases of this kind.

Any girls of high school age who wish to take part in the tag day may do so by phoning Mrs. George Woelz before Saturday morning. Mrs. Woelz lives at 544 Lawrence-st.

Ward Heelers Wearing Out Shoes In "Y" Ballot Fight

Shoe leather is going to waste at an alarming rate in the boys' division of the Y. M. C. A. since the bitter struggle began and it is feared the shoe dealers will reap a big harvest if the balloting does not occur soon.

The reason for this situation is the strenuous amount of ward heeling and gum shoeing that is going on among the Finger and Behnke factions in the presidential race of the boys' division. It is even intimated that chocolate bars, peanuts and cough drops are being slipped into receptive hands despite the strictness of the corrupt practices act.

Hardly a boy comes into the building but what three or four slick politicians have him cornered and are telling him about the virtues of their candidates. They make all kinds of promises in real demagogical style and it is not uncommon to see a voter nod his head in a decisive way, committed to some candidate.

The Reliabilities felt a bit ashamed of their sign writing ability as compared with that of Everybody's party, so their poster on behalf of Finger has been relegated to obscurity and another in colors has taken its place on the "Y" bulletin board. It is right in the running with the poster for Behnke and reads:

"Don't waste your vote. Cast it for Finger. The Reliable party. Know, like and boost the 'Y'."

The election is to be held following the annual membership campaign.

THE STAGE

FISCHER'S APPLETON THEATRE
By Louis Cline

There were three, he and she, an' the slippery villain.
They both loved her madly, but she wasn't willin'
To stand up and choose,
For the man she'd refuse
Would be sore and there might be a killin'.

The first was a rough guy, but tender of heart.
With pistols and leggin's and lookin' his part—
"Girlie, I'm mad for you,
"Let's skip in my canoe."
Shades of "Hoot" Gibson and Erich von Stroheim!

The other chap was from Lunnon's fair Strand,
He had come for his health to this far-away land—
Now he was a wily bird.
Strong for the spoken word.
Offering wealth in return for her hand.

"Gawd help me, I love the gal!" number one cried,
And the Englishman, facing him boldly, replied,
"I feel for her, too,
"Just exactly as you!"
But sad to relate, readers, one of them lied.

'Twas in the last reel, with the fire coming fast
And a-busting up everything as it came past.
When from a dark greed,
Came a villainous deed,
And the audience knew the true villain at last.

There were three, he and she, an' the slippery villain,
And the girl to the lucky one said:
"I am willin'!"
Now which do you think
Was the fortunate gink
And why wasn't there any killin'?

CLIFF TELLS TALE OF MANY VICTORIES ON LEBANON HILLS

Inscriptions 3,000 Years Old Side By Side With Modern Ones

By Associated Press
Jerusalem—On the face of a cliff in the Lebanon hills Ramezes II, king of Egypt, well over 3,000 years ago ordered his stone carvers to inscribe a tablet setting forth his conquest of the land. The figures of the ancient Egyptian ruler and his men still are visible. A few feet away one may see, carved in the same rock by a British stone cutter, a record of the coming in September, 1918, of Field Marshall Sir Edmund H. H. Allenby, G. C. B., commander of the Allied forces in Asia Minor. And the passage of the centuries from B. C. 1300 to A. D. 1918 is recorded by various other carvings, in all not less than 12 and each describing the march of a victorious army.

SETS PRECEDENT
The cliff selected for the carving of these historic records is at the mouth of the Dog river, 10 miles northeast of Beirut, in Syria. This strip of country lying between the Lebanon and Egypt has been the bridge between the ancient empires of the valley of the Nile and Mesopotamia, and over it has passed the armies of the ancient, medieval and modern worlds. The narrowest point is where the Lebanon mountains come close to the sea, and at this place Ramezes II set the precedent of commemorating his conquests by hewing out a panel on the face of the cliff. His example has been followed by others through the centuries until now there are a dozen of them. They are all cut about four or five inches deep, from face to back, and from two to four and a half feet in width. The stones of more than 3,000 years have been beaten upon some of them but still the figures of the ancient Egyptian conquerors are easily discernable as they stand with their right arms uplifted in an attitude of victory. The hieroglyphs have long since disappeared except to the trained eye of the archaeologist.

"BREATH OF LORD"
Several Assyrian conquerors led their armies through this pass, including the great Sennacherib, who threatened Jerusalem, but whose army was smitten by "the breath of the Lord," and for a century and a quarter the city was saved from its foes. Alexander the Great led his conquering hosts through the same defile on his way to Egypt, and Greek and Latin tablets tell of the conquests of the great kingdoms of southern Europe when the march of empire passed from Asia to Europe.

Coming down to recent history a tablet tells of the coming of the army of Louis Napoleon in 1860, when the massacres in the Lebanon called for European interference, and France first set her foot in Syria. Nearly 60 years passed by, and then the English army led by General Allenby and assisted by the French, swept up like a whirlwind from the south four years ago and ended the rule of the Turk in the southern part of the Lebanon.

A panel has been cut in the cliff near those of the ancient Egyptians, telling of this great victory and bringing this wonderful cliff-record of history up to date.

BRITAIN MAY BAN U.S. RADIO FIRMS

London—Vigorous protest has been made in the House of Commons against the plan of Postmaster General Kellaway against granting to a combine of instrument makers for two years the right of wireless broadcasting in England, and a monopoly of the sale of receiving instruments. The plan, if adopted, will exclude American and other foreign made wireless apparatus.

Captain Wedgwood Benn, member of parliament, said broadcasting should be considered as a supplement to news papers. He declared it marked the big step development in the dissemination of information since the invention of the printing press. It was not right, he argued, that the development of wireless broadcasting should be left in the hands of a combine.

The speaker asked the postmaster general what arrangements had been made for the copyright of newspaper dispatches. He said when a newspaper had at great expense obtained an item of news, it ought to enjoy the monopoly of it for a period of at least 24 hours.

Mr. Kellaway said there would be no monopoly. Every one of the manufacturers of apparatus could become a member of the broadcasting company. "We have to keep this new form of communication in the hands of our own people," he proceeded. "Whether in the matter of broadcasting or reception, our manufacturers have a technical skill and a capacity of production equal to any in the world. I am advised that in the two years $30,000,000 will be spent in the purchase of receiving apparatus and erection of broadcasting stations, and 80 per cent of this will go in wages."

WORK IS RECIPE FOR 62 YEARS OF HAPPY MARRIED LIFE

Here are two people who have traveled the rugged path of married life together for 62 years, and are as happy on rounding out their anniversary as in 1860 when they joined hands and answered "yes" when the minister asked if they would "love and obey."

They are Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hilde, who reside with their son, Louis Hilde, on the family homestead in the town of Hortonville. Their formula for happiness and contentment is one little word, "work."

"We just kept busy on our farm and tried to make a good success of it, so we had no time to think of unrest or discontent," said Mr. Hilde when asked how 62 years could go by so amiably in these days when the sea of matrimony often is so stormy.

LOVES FARM LIFE

The elderly man is a lover of horses and would sooner drive a robust team than anything else. Farming, with its daily care of his horses, therefore always was attractive to him. Mrs. Hilde is a lover of home life and found satisfaction in pursuing her household duties and rearing six children, all of them grown up now.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hilde are natives of Germany. The former came to America when he was 19 years old and Mrs. Hilde came when she was 9 years. Mr. Hilde's parents settled on a farm in the town of Hortonville and the son assumed charge of it when they died. The couple made their home there after marriage and operated the farm for many years. They retired and moved to New London, but later returned to the homestead to live with their son, Louis, who now conducts the place.

VED AT HOTEL

There were no churches near by when the couple wanted to marry in 1860. They therefore drove to Menasha by team, where the ceremony was performed in a hotel.

Mr. Hilde is 85 years old and is in good health. He still assists in the farm work. Mrs. Hilde is 80, and while not as active takes a keen interest in happenings of the community. The newspaper must be read to her every day so she can keep in contact with events of the day.

FINE PARENTS
There is compulsory education for all children from 6 to 15 years of age. When a child is absent from school without proper excuse the parents are fined 20 cents for each day of absence. Parents are fined 10 cents for every time a scholar is tardy. When sickness is reported as the cause of absence, school nurses investigate, and only a certificate from these school nurses is the excuse of illness recognized. Simple treatment by the nurses frequently makes it possible for a child to return to the class room.

With this system of fines "playing hooky" is practically unknown in the Virgin Islands.

When the United States by purchase acquired the Virgin Islands from Denmark in 1917, there was already a well established public school system, and it is estimated there was less than 5 per cent illiteracy on the island. The school system, however, then extended only to the sixth grade. Since then the seventh and eighth grades have been established generally and two junior high schools have been opened, with the junior year being offered this year for the first time. In another year it is planned to establish the fourth and last year of high school study.

Children on the Virgin Islands are anxious to learn, according to School Director Nasse, head of the insular system, and the collecting of fines for tardiness and absence does not yield more than 10 a month. This year there are 15 school teachers from the United States giving instructions in the island schools, while all of the other teachers are Virgin Islanders.

SMOKELESS CHIMNEYS
The Petrograd port has shown great activity this summer, but most of the factory chimneys of the city and suburbs are still smokeless, and the streets, as compared with busy Moscow, seem like those of a country village.

A few pedestrians, an automobile or two now and then a slow moving horse drawn truck, and the scattering of cabs in the great broad avenues laid out by Peter the Great to make Petrograd magnificent, seem lost in the city's spaciousness.

border the plazas and squares are now occupied by small bureaus of the main ministries at Moscow. Huge palaces are empty, occupied only by caretakers, or transformed into museums, open but a few hours each week and even then visited only by sightseeing tourists, and now and then a little group of art students.

Many shops are open, selling mostly second hand furniture and costly bric-a-brac from the houses of the once great, but business is dull and money is much scarcer than in speculation-mad seemingly prosperous Moscow.

THIS IS 'GOLDEN AGE' FOR FOOD SO HISTORY TELLS US

If You're Kicking About Prices These Days, Better Read Story

Rome—When all the world is complaining of what it costs to buy a good dinner, as compared to the days before the war, an Italian investigator has come forward with the statement that never before have the people been as well fed as at present. Signor Pedrazzoli has analyzed the descriptions, in old writings, of the hundred course banquets of the middle ages, and the records of "wines" prepared for the feasters. He finds undoubted exaggeration, and says that when such things did happen so many people sat down to the meal that each individual portion was very small. Such dinners also were given only in years of plenty, but more numerous than these were the lean years. Then the people were thin and pale, and at this time originated the expression "tighten up your belt."

GOLDEN AGE
The XVII century, the golden age for food. During these years potatoes, tea, chocolate and coffee were introduced into Europe. Rome claims to be the birth place of "Cafe au lait." Ambulant Greeks used to sell coffee from buckets in the streets of Rome. The Romans immediately used this for mixing with milk, and so popular proved the drink that it soon spread to the whole world. The first coffee house to be opened in Rome was, in fact, called: "il cafe greco" and it may still be seen, in the picturesque Via Condotti.

An idea of how bad was the food in middle ages may be had from the writings of Tassoni, in whose verse various menus are described. When the food was not of poor quality in itself, the predominant note in its preparation was not with regard to taste, but to display. Spices also were very much in evidence, and the dishes often were so highly seasoned as to be neither healthy nor agreeable.

Girl Athletes Headed For Sex Extinction Says Scientist

"Sensational" Suzanne Lenglen, the Spectacular French Tennis Champion Whose Nervous Collapse Was Attributed to "Too Much Strenuousness."

And Here, Photographically Illustrated, Are
Some of the 1922
"Perils" Which Biologists Now Declare Are "Making Champions and Destroying Mothers"

JUST as American girls are taking to strenuous sports with all the vim of their brothers on diamond and gridiron, the warning is flashed from England, "Pull up! You are heading for sex extinction!"

Just as American educators are encouraging athletics in girls' schools as enthusiastically as in boys', British biologists explode this bombshell. "Stop! You are breeding a neuter sex, neither male nor female; you are destroying mothers when you make champions!"

Heads of such institutions as Vassar, Smith, Wellesley, Barnard and a thousand lesser institutions throughout the United States are frankly flabbergasted. Their pet theories are being twisted topsy-turvy, they may have to revolutionize their entire scheme of physical education.

All of them boast gymnasiums. All insist on exercise for their students. Most of them have basketball, track and hockey teams. Many have introduced football and baseball for girls. The new girl athlete is the type of the hour. Everywhere girls are being converted to boys' games. They themselves are "crazy" about sports. They ride, fence, row, swim, golf; they yell for their teams; they enter inter-school contests; they break records; they strive for muscular development.

In the face of this universal movement is flung this sudden declaration from English educators and men of science:

"Unless there are speedy and fundamental changes in the prevailing system of physical education for the modern girl, the female sex will become extinct as such. In a generation or so, it will not exist, and instead we will have a sort of 'man-woman'—a distinct third sex."

These are the words of George Chalmers, secretary of the committee formed in London by the British Medical Association, the Royal College of Surgeons and Physicians, and the British Medical Women's Association, for the avowed purpose of combating strenuous sports for girls.

The committee sent out questionnaires to leading medical authorities, heads of girls' schools and heads of hospitals, asking for their observations on the training of girls. Nine-tenths of the replies denounced such sports for women as football, swimming, rowing and lacrosse.

Doctors declared that such games impair the functions of motherhood and cause incalculable suffering to women in later years. Eminent biologists asserted that women athletes spend all their "capital" and consequently are producing "an emasculated race of men." Champion women athletes are often sterile, they said; moreover, women athletes take on masculine traits to the point where the feminine in them is all but crushed out.

"Biologists have long recognized the existence of the 'third sex' as a social factor to be reckoned with," wrote Dr. Leonard Williams, distinguished biologist associated with Professor Julian Huxley in his investigations. "They have long viewed with alarm the increase in the ranks of these 'human deviations' created by our modern ideas about the physical education of girls."

Dr. Williams went on to explain why athletics bring about a "third sex." Nature, he said, apportions to each human being only a certain amount of energy. At the age of adolescence this energy is distributed to the various organs of the body according to sex and the different requirements of the sexes. Until this age is reached sex is neuter. Boys and girls under the age of adolescence are, scientifically speaking, neither male nor female, but simply children without sex distinction.

"When a girl reaches the age of adoand substantiated by their scientific investigations, what we had merely suspected, that we are actually producing men-women—women in whom the male element is over-developed."

Girls, declares Miss Bennell, do not naturally desire strenuous games. They are shy and dreamy at that age. But they are "shamed into sports." Many become teachers and train other "grenadiers in petticoats."

Miss Bennell, Dr. Williams and their associates on the Committee for the Prohibition of Girls' Games are proceeding on the assumption that there is a fundamental difference in the physical makeup of man and woman—that girls can be taught to be healthy without blindly imitating the games of men and boys. They do not ban all sports, only those which divert energy from the creative organs to the muscles.

Their campaign has not been all smooth sailing. A number of prominent Englishwomen have taken up the cudgels for the other side. One of these, Dr. Letitia Fairchild, who was woman medical director of the Royal Air Force during the war, disagrees with the biologists.

"Give us proofs!" she cries, "not unsubstantial statements. It is ridiculous to say that child-birth is often rendered difficult for women who have played games. Every doctor knows that certain muscles are involved when a baby is born that are strengthened, not weakened, by games. So many factors are responsible for sterility that it is impossible to attribute that to games."

"Women have ridden horseback for centuries, and their children have not been affected. You have only to look at the middle-class, middle-aged woman who has played similar games, and compare her to a woman of similar age belonging to the working class, and you will see how games have benefited her."

Women athletes themselves have greeted the Games Prohibitionists with snorts of indignation and disdain. At the recent Women's Olympiad at Monte Carlo, competed in by champions from a score of countries, regulations were adopted deploring the outcry against women's sports.

"Training for sports will make you feel fit," declared Miss Mary Lines, winner of the 250 metre flat race and the long jump. "It is nonsense to say swimming isn't good for girls—why, it made me girls—why, it made me healthy when I was puny!" asserted Miss Doris Hart, winner of the 200 metres breast stroke.

"It certainly makes women stronger," agreed Mrs. Lucy Kiltner Harland. "Swimming developed me into a fine, healthy woman." was the testimony of Mrs. Olive Matthews (nee Olive Carson). "and I have a strong, healthy boy three and a half years old!" she added.

That American scientists, physicians and educators, already keenly interested, will be drawn actively into the "third sex" controversy, is indicated by the London committee, which proposes to extend its researches to this country.

What a survey of girl athletes in the United States will show remains to be seen. In the meantime, college authorities in many cities are debating the subject. "Do sports for women do harm or good? Will they develop strong, healthy mothers, or will they lead to a third sex, neither man nor woman?"

Miss Catherine McCullough, Champion High Jumper at Wellesley, Illustrating One of the Very Strenuous Feats Against Which the Outcry Has Been Raised.

lucence," continued Dr. Williams, "she lapses naturally into a state of inactivity, for the simple reason that nature is diverting most of her energy to the creative organism. What precisely happens when we thrust girls into a whirl of exhaustive games like football and hockey, is that their energy is unnaturally diverted from the natural channel and spent in sport. The result, inevitably, is a sterile woman, developing all the male characteristics in her composition; or, at best, a woman producing weedy, sickly children."

Another description of the "third sex" is given by Miss M. Bennell, a distinguished British educator, who says the "man-woman" is "physically like a Grenadier in petticoats; she is a dangerous abnormality. For several years we have watched the rapid development of this unhappy and curious creature. We classified the type as 'men-women,' and dismissed them from our minds as the unlovely specimens of a misplaced physical training. The biologists, however, have awakened us to the gravity of this new entity in our social life. They discovered,

FRENCH ARE AFTER TRADE WITH SOVIET RUSS BUSINESS MEN

Chamber of Commerce of Mar-sailles Petitions for Russian Commerce

By Associated Press
Marseille, — Soviet Russia has firm supporters in Marseille. Everyone from the dockworkers to the wealthy manufacturers wants Bolshevik Russia's trade. The petition of the Mar-sailles Chamber of Commerce for the reestablishment of trade with Russia produced such an impression on former Premier Briand that he went far toward bettering Russian relations. Northern France rebelled and Raymond Poincaré succeeded him.
France's attitude at the Genoa conference did not appeal to Marseille with its shipping and smokeless factories, and pressure is being brought to Marseille interests of all sorts to effect some settlement at the Hague Conference which will facilitate France's trade relations with Black Sea ports.

Marseille is the greatest flour milling city on the Mediterranean. Before the war one-fifth of its flour mill products went to Russia. It also had a great Russian trade in soap and oil.

MANY SOCIALISTS
The population of Marseille is so largely industrial that the Socialists are always in the majority. While the Marseille Socialists frequently fly red flags and display sympathy for Bolshevik Russia, they are really a "faint pink" in contrast to the Russian Communists. On the occasion of the recent municipal elections in which the Socialists won their usual overwhelming victories there were many parades in celebration of their successes. Red flags and banners demanding the release of the French sailors who are still in prison for refusing to fight the Bolsheviks at Odessa, were displayed. The mutiny of the French navy at Odessa, when it was ordered to attack Soviet forces in 1918, has always been a favorite theme with French Socialists of the extreme type, who also opposed the Wrangel and Denikin movements.

To the party of American bankers who were visiting here at the time of the recent election excitement, the street parades seemed very extreme.
But demonstrators in old residents of Russia's collapse has contributed to economic depression in France's great

BERLIN RESUMES FORMER PLACE AS CONSULAR CENTER

Ninety-one Posts Representing Fifty-eight Countries in German Capital

Berlin — Berlin is rapidly resuming its pre-war position as a diplomatic and consular center and there are today 91 such posts here representing 58 countries, as compared with the handful of neutral and Central European representatives which remained during the war. The present diplomatic personnel numbers some 2,000 to which the United States, Russia and Afghanistan are the most recent contributors.

The legation of Siam is the only pre-war post which has voluntarily not been reestablished. Peace was concluded with that country at the signing of the Versailles treaty, but a separate agreement still is pending.
However, the Turkish embassy which remained during the war was dropped in accordance with the demands of the Entente and that country's interests here are now being handled by the Swiss Confederation.

The outcome of the war is further reflected in the changed representation of that territory which formerly comprised Austro-Hungary. While it formerly came entirely under one embassy, since May 1, 1919, there has been a legation each for Germany, Austria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia.
Altogether Germany now finds herself after the lapse of three years since the signing of the Versailles treaty, with virtually all of her former relations resumed and a number of new ones undertaken. The total representation includes six embassies, 29 legations, one nunciature, five charges des affaires and two diplomatic posts with heads who hold no definite rank. There are 32 honorary consulates and consular representatives in eight legations, besides representatives of eight powers whose official designation has not yet been established. A few of the smaller powers merely have consuls at Hamburg.

During the war there were only three embassies in Berlin, those of Austro-Hungary, Spain and Turkey, besides 10 legations all of which had consulates corresponding. There were also the papal representative, commercial offices of Luxembourg and San Domingo, and the consulate general of Argentina.

MOONSHINE GANG 'SHOOTS UP' TOWN THAT FIGHTS 'EM

Kingsdale, Minn., Appeals to Government to Send Men to Protect It

Special to Post-Crescent
Kingsdale, Minn. — War to the death, with rifles, revolvers, fire and dynamite is being waged in the little community between an organized gang of 25 bootleggers and a small group of Kingsdale citizens.
Heading the citizens is Charles R.
Grace, community leader and staunch upholder of law and order.
Acts of terrorism which the desperadoes have committed include:
The burning of Grace's lumber camps, with a loss of $2,000.
The dynamiting of his $14,000 hotel and business block, endangering the lives of himself and his family.
The "shooting up" of the town with revolvers and rifles, and a three-hour reign of terror.

The driving of four preachers from Kingsdale.
Open threats of death against Grace and his family.

BUT—
"They are not going to make me quit," says Grace. "Mine was the second family to settle here. It is my town. They may 'get' me, but Kings-dale will be here when I'm gone."

Grace has appealed to the government and to federal agents for aid.
Meanwhile the two factions face each other from armed camps.

The bootleggers have established themselves in an almost inaccessible stronghold in the dense woods along the Minnesota-Wisconsin boundary, near the junction of the St. Croix and Tamarac rivers. Sentries with long-range rifles stationed at far outposts, guard all approaches. The gangsters are familiar with all the thicket passes—a knowledge not possessed by dry enforcers. It is believed that nothing but a strategic attack and a pitched battle can dislodge them.

The war started when Grace was reported to have tipped off dry agents to the bootleggers' activities. There was a raid upon 20 big stills near her and 2,000 tons of sugar and thousands of gallons of mash were seized.

DYNAMITE BUILDING
Seeking revenge, the moonshiners rode into town en masse, placed dynamite in front of the store and set it off.
There was a blast which shook the country for five miles around.
Grace and his family were hurried from their beds. His son's back was wrenched, and a guest and hired man, John Jacobson, were severely cut by flying glass from shattered windows.
Then, a few days later, 15 of the Romantic maidens, this is just what you've been looking for. Get him quick! He's a shock. This wild desert rider is one of the irregulars who attached themselves to the forces of Mustafa Kemal on his victorious march across Asia Minor.

gang rode into town, firing as they came. The inhabitants fled before them to the shelter of their homes.
For three hours the raiders rode up and down the main street spreading intimidation and terror.

"We'll stick" again announced
Grace, following the raid.
Grace bought the Kingsdale town site nine years ago, moving here with his family. The little town situated about 100 miles north of St. Paul, on the Wisconsin boundary, grew into a typical little orderly frontier settlement of some 150 inhabitants. The nearest town is Pine City, the county seat 40 miles away.

QUEEN MARY HAS MANY JEWELS AT COURT FUNCTIONS

Many Americans Are Very Anxious to be Presented to English Monarchs

London—There has been keen rivalry among Americans in London to gain entrance to King George and Queen Mary's court levees, which have been revived for the first time in eight years. Colonel Harvey, the American Ambassador, has been inundated with requests, pleas and prayers from Americans of all ranks
"to see what the king and queen look like." Every sort of argument has been advanced by the petitioners, and the ambassador has found it difficult to choose between those legitimately entitled to a bowing acquaintance with the king and queen and mere tourists or "social climbers" who want something to write home about or to put in their diaries.
Among the favored American women who were permitted to bend their knee before George and Mary was the wife of a Washington diplomat, who has given the following description of the function:

"The dominating and most lasting impression was the appearance of the queen. I had been led to expect from photographs and published descriptions that she was of a severely matronly type. Instead, she seemed to be perfectly beautiful, in fact superb in her regalness, and wearing her magnificent jewels like flowers.
Her face had nothing of the pictured severity, but radiated the kindest of smiles as I passed and courtesied.

"The court was everything I had imagined it would be in pomp and grandeur, but throughout it all there was a wonderful human note. The king and queen seemed delighted to welcome us. Of hauteur there was none, in fact, the manner in which the queen and princess Mary kept chatting and laughing during the intervals seemed to indicate that the members of the royal family were enjoying themselves as much as we were.

"The machinery of the ceremonial was so wonderful, so perfect in its apparent effortlessness, that there really was no reason to be nervous.
White-gloved hands were always ready to arrange our trains, to point the route we were to go, to hold us for a moment, or indicate that we should proceed. It was impossible to do the wrong thing. The courtesy before the king, then a few steps and another courtesy before the queen and the presentation was over before I realized it.

"The difference between the court

The new winter coats will charm you with their beauty of line and fabric

FABRICS

Every season coat fabrics grow more and more beautiful. This season presents nearly a score of new ones, such as velveteen, om-dale, gerons, soft and velvety, mamano, rubadre, normaglow of the soft Bohemia type.

COLORS

Black and navy have not lost their popularity but many new shades have appeared that are both beautiful and becoming. Browns that shade from the pale fallow through deer, rrr ten, suchard to the deepest zanzibar. Lighter blues, Pretet, Sorrento, Marine and Hawaiian, the copper shades, the reds with their interesting names — Redskin, Genoeese, Portward
And these are only a few.

SLEEVES

Are worth noting this season. It seems indeed as if the coats were designed around them — kimono sleeves, pouch sleeves, sleeves of all varieties.

This is one of the seasons when all the styles are a "joy to behold" — coats with big fur collars; luxurious wrappy coats, beautifully embroidered dress coats or more simply tailored models.
Most of them follow the straight line silhouette that is so becoming. But endless variety is introduced in the treatment of sleeves and the use of trimmings.

Our coat department is filled with the new fall fashions. You are invited to view them.

But we know that mere style will not satisfy you and so we have secured for you the most beautifully tailored coats obtainable.

Made out of choice, all-wool fabrics, finished with a care to every detail;
guaranteed to give you continued

The season offers hats both large and small, small round shapes, draped turbans, variations of the tricorn or big dashing hats, ribbon or feather trimmed Hats of felt, duvetyne, velvet hatters plush are all to be found.

DRESSES

Point twill or some soft "crepe" silk can be your choice in dresses. In woolen materials, dresses are, of course more simply tailored — but how they dress themselves up in ray embroidery, braiding, beading. The waist lines are still low, sleeves of all varieties. Silk dresses show the new drapes, uneven skirts, side cascades, set in circular panels.

BELTS

Metal girdles, beautifully wrought buckles on cloth belts are all in evidence and add their bit to the gaudy of the season.

Los Angeles Teacher
Endorses Milk

The following letter, which was received by the Crescent Creamery Company of Los Angeles, is an example of the good that milk feeding is doing in every section of the continent.

Esther Quintana is a pupil in one of the schools which is supplied with milk by the Crescent Creamery.

1517 N. Spring St.,
Los Angeles, Calif.,
December 9, 1921.

Dear Sir:

I thank you for all the milk you give me and the swing and the "Chuck a Luck" and the good food. I came every day in the summer for my milk. I drank it all. My mother likes me to stay in the Sunshine Room. I weigh 51 pounds but I should weight 61.

Your friend,
Esther Quintana

We also believe that the following letter written by Miss Etta D. Bacon, teacher of Linstrom room for sub-normal children, Los Angeles public schools, to her principal, will be of interest to teachers and others who are interested in the welfare of our children. Milk feeding is an important part of the program in Miss Bacon's room.

Mrs. Echelda Drake:

I have been looking over my weight book and I was quite interested in some of these unusual gains. I know it will interest you.
Children of this age should gain, normally, about 8 ounces in one month. Just taking the last four weeks I noted that, of the girls, the rate of gain runs from the normal rate up to 4 times the normal rate, as follows:

1 girl 4	times normal rate
1 girl 3 1/4	times normal rate
2 girls 3	times normal rate
1 girl 2 1/2	times normal rate
1 girl 2	times normal rate
1 girl 1 1/2	times normal rate
1 girl	normal rate

The boys are even more noticeable, running from 6 times the average rate of gain for well children, to 4 times, as follows:

1 boy 6	times normal rate
1 boy 5	times normal rate
3 boys 4 1/2	times normal rate
1 boy 4	times normal rate

Only one boy showed a loss and he is now in the hospital. The others missed one of the four weighings and were not counted.

Then I went back 7 weeks when eight of the original class were found to be up to standard and able to return to their rooms. These children had the benefit of the milk all summer. They are the kind of children who would remain underweight indefinitely if they did not receive this additional food. The rest periods and fresh air help but would never do the work alone for these children so insufficiently and wrongly fed at home.

After these 8 were taken out 12 new ones came in, making a class of 20. Of these, the ten girls in the last seven weeks have gained a total of 16 pounds. The boys in the same time have gained 13 1/2 pounds. One boy gained 4 1/4 pounds, and one girl 3 1/2 pounds. These gains would have been absolutely impossible without the milk.

The Barometer of Buying

You have a shopping barometer — a standard register of fair price levels. It is the only guide you need to safe spending.

Thank goodness, the day is long past when the purchaser had to stake his will and wits against those of the seller to satisfy his sense of value every time he bought anything. Today it is the merchant's duty—to make his knowledge serve his customers in order that it may serve himself.

We endeavor at all times to give our patrons the best service possible, by selling them nothing but the best meats that we can buy.

Lanyard had already consulted with the maitre d'hotel over the menu and the reservation as the two settled down at a table on the side of the room.

"Monsieur received a telegram this afternoon?"

"Yes, mademoiselle. And you?"

"It is here—since I am May I see yours?"

With a gay gesture she handed over her telegram from London and took his in exchange.

The ordinary cipher of the British Secret Service was as readily intelligible to both as if the messages had been couched in open French or English.

The girl was laughing as she returned Lanyard's telegram and received her own.

"Mature charms," she pouted. "Enjoyable intellectual evening. Oh how depressing! And are you going to obey that impunction to treat me as somebody's sister?"

"Never in my life!"

"I like that better. And," she inquired demurely, "may one ask what are monsieur's commands?"

"First you will continue to flirt with me as at present—outrageously."

"Even when you make it so difficult?"

"And then, if I discover an interest in people, may I chance to see you will be good enough to tell me who they are and—other details concerning their ways of life?"

"Perhaps I know them. It might save time if you would give me their names."

"Le Comte de Lorennes?"

Mademoiselle Reneaux looked blank. "Madame la Comtesse de Lorennes?"

"If you could describe them per chance?"

"Useless. I am afraid neither is an uncommon type."

"Are you then acquainted with a man named Phinuit—an American?"

"No."

"Mr. Whitaker Monk, of New York?"

"I met him one night with a gay party that joined ours at breakfast at the Cafe de la Paix. A quaint little study."

"Quant, I grant you. But hardly little, or stupid. A tall man as thin as a reed, with a face like a comic mask of tragedy."

"Paul dear," said Athenais Reneaux more in sorrow than in anger, "somebody has been taking advantage of your trusting nature. Whitaker Monk is short, hopelessly stout and the most commonplace person imaginable."

"CHAPTER XIV Sin in Beauty's Garb"

In no city in the world is the doctrine of go-as-you-please-but-mind-your-own-business more studiously inculcated by example than in Paris, especially in its hours of relaxation.

Lanyard had been so long an exile as to have forgotten his way about entirely, and with what was new since his time Mademoiselle Reneaux was thoroughly acquainted.

If there were anybody or thing a girl of her age—Athenais was about twenty-five—shouldn't know she knew him, her or it if there were any place he shouldn't go, she either went or had been there, if there were anything she shouldn't do, or say, or think, or countenance, those things she—with limitations—did and said and thought and accepted or passed over as matters of fact and no consequence.

On the way to their table they, after a dance, were intercepted by a woman who, with two cavaliers had been standing near the door of the restaurant. Through a rising clatter of tongues her voice cut clearly.

"Athenais! It is I—Liane."

Lanyard was inclined to think he had never seen this side of foot lights, a gown quite so daring as that which revealed the admirably turned person of the lady who named her self Liane.

At the sound of her name Athenais turned with a perfectly indicated start of surprise which she promptly translated into a little joyful cry. The living pillar of ivory, satin and precious stones ran into her arms, embraced her ardently, and kissed both her cheeks, then releasing her, half turned to Lanyard.

Glints of trifling malice winked behind the open interest of troubling wounded eyes of violet. Lanyard knew himself known.

So he had sacrificed for nothing the beautiful beard?

He uttered a private but heartfelt "Damn!" and bowed profoundly as the woman, tapping Athenais on the arm with a fan crusted with diamonds, demanded:

"Present instantly, my dear this gentleman who tangles as I have never seen the tangle named before!"

Forestalling Athenais Lanyard replied with a whimsical grimace: "Is one, then, so unfortunate as to have been forgotten by Madame la Comtesse de Lorennes?"

"But monsieur is mistaken! The other stammered biting her lip. "Surely one cannot have been so stupid!" Lanyard apologized.

But this is Mademoiselle Delorme. Athenais said—Monsieur Paul Martin.

Liane Delorme! Those syllables were like a spoken spell to break the power of enchantment which had hampered Lanyard's memory ever since first sight of this woman in the Cafe de l'Univers at Nant.

A great light began to flood his understanding but he was denied time to advantage himself immediately of its illumination. Liane Delorme was quick to parry and riposte.

How strange monsieur should think he had ever known me by a name—But no matter! or now I look more closely I myself cannot get over the impression that I have known Monsieur—Martin—did you say?

"Somewhere sometime—But Paul Martin?" Not unless monsieur has more than one name.

Then it would seem that made mademoiselle and I are both in error. The loss is mine.

While the waiter fetched additional chairs the woman made her escorts known. Messieurs Benouville et Le Brun two extravagantly in significant young men.

Champagne frothed into fresh glasses as soon as the hand struck up another dance Athenais drifted away in the arms of Monsieur Le Brun. Liane gazed round the room acknowledging the salutations of several friends and issued peremptory orders to Benouville.

Ask Angele to dance with you. I desire to advise Monsieur Martin with my confidences.

With the utmost docility Benouville assented himself.

"Eh, bien, Monsieur Duchemin!"

"Eh, bien, madame la comtesse!"

Liane sipped at her champagne making impudent eyes at Lanyard over the brim of her glass.

"By what appears you have at last torn yourself away from the charming society of the Chateau de Montalais?"

"As you see."

"That was a long visit you made at the chateau my old one?"

"One had the misfortune to fall foul of an assassin. Lanyard took the trouble to explain.

"And you were wounded?"

Lanyard assented. The lady made a shocked face and uttered appropriate noises. "As you know," Lanyard added.

"What an experience! Still—Liane again buried her nose in her glass and regarded Lanyard with a look of mysterious understanding. Re-emerging she resumed: Still not without its compensations, eh, mon ami?"

"Indeed," Lanyard agreed with his most winning manner. For instance I recovered speedily enough to be in Paris tonight and meet mademoiselle without losing time."

"And where is that good Monsieur Monk tonight?" he asked.

"Ah, monsieur," but I am desolated. He has returned to his barbarous America, with his kind heart and all his millions."

"And the excellent Phinuit?"

Lanyard compassionately fished a bottle out of the cooler and refilled her glass.

"Accept mademoiselle every assurance of my profound sympathy."

"I will repay sympathy with sympathy. I have already forgotten that I ever visited the Chateau de Montalais. So how should I remember I met monsieur there under the name of—but I forget."

"The name of Duchemin?"

"I never knew there was such a name—I swear—before I saw it in type today."

"In type?"

"It appeared in Le Matin today this quaint name, Duchemin, in a dispatch from Villau stating that a person of that name, a guest of the Chateau de Montalais, had disappeared without taking formal leave of his hosts."

One gathers that he took something else."

"Nothing less than the world-known Antruther collection of jewels, the property of Madame de Montalais nee Anstruther."

"But I am recently from the Chateau de Montalais and in a position to assure mademoiselle that this poor fellow Duchemin, is unjustly accused."

"Oh, ho, ho!"

He heard again that laugh of broad derision which had seemed so out of character with a great lady when he had heard it first, that night now nearly a month old.

"Mademoiselle does not believe?"

USE A LITTLE MUD ON YOUR FACE TO REVIVE YOUTH

Mud Baths And Mud Massages Are All the Rage in Beauty Parlors Now

BY MARGARET ROHE

Is your complexion sallow, dear? Have you big pores? Is your face queer?

If so, I pray you, shed no tear, Just spread on clay from ear to ear. Just make a mud pie on your face And give it 30 minutes grace.

Of course in the parlance of their salons de luxe a face pack is what you get at $5 and $10 per pack. Nevertheless its name is mud at any price.

When you take your muddy complexion to Elizabeth Arden, Dorothy Gray or Kathleen Mary Quinlan, these high priestesses of beauty and facial esthetics are sure just to add a little more mud.

Of course in the parlance of their salons de luxe a face pack is what you get at $5 and $10 per pack. Nevertheless its name is mud at any price.

When you go to have your face done in mud at a salon de beauté the masseuse first smears your helpless countenance with cleansing cream.

As one of your vital needs she next kneads in a tissue cream.

When this is wiped off a gooey paste of the mud or clay is dabbed on, nice and hot, and you are then set aside to cool.

As the clay mask dries your face begins to tingle, and when it's all a-twitter the clay is softened with cold water compresses and then washed off.

Oil is then poured on your troubled countenance to remove any stray particle of mud from each and every open pore. An astringent is dabbed on next and then comes a rub down with ice.

After this frosty finish you are smartly slapped in the face with a patty and then you may take your rejuvenated countenance home and show it to your admiring friends and family.

TRY IT YOURSELF

If you want to make your own facial mud pies and do a little clay singing in your own boudoir and face, all sorts of special bargains in complexion clay are being advertised these days.

All you have to do is send the coupon from your favorite magazine with postage and $1.95 and a $5 jar of wonder working complexion clay is yours.

It's guaranteed to put a different complexion on things in 40 minutes, only for goodness sake don't forget you have it on and answer the door bell in the mud like the matron next door did last week.

The shocked postman thought the poor soul was mortified—which indeed she was.

When it comes to a question of mud and minutes another house offers to supply you a jar of clay for $1.87 which will do the dirty work in only 30 minutes.

This is undoubtedly some clay feat. Considering what it costs one to wallow in the luxury of a mud facial at a Fifth avenue beauty salon, these marked down clay days for the home and fireside face certainly are dirt cheap.

Travel As Far As You Want On Weekly Pass

Chicago—A voluntary experiment in furnishing the people of Chicago with unlimited elevated transportation on a weekly pass is being tried out by the Chicago elevated railroads.

The plan was announced after the roads had filed a voluntary petition with the Illinois Commerce Commission for a downward revision of rates.

It provides for sale of a weekly unlimited ride transferable pass for $1.75 good on all points south of Howard street, and other which sells for $2 is good for any points between Chicago and Evanston.

Ernest I. Budd, president of the elevated says, "I have long wished to see the quantity user given the benefit of a lower rate."

EAT ENOUGH, BUT EXERCISE TO KEEP THIN

Mary Katherine Campbell, who won the first prize and title of "Miss America" at the recent national beauty contest at Atlantic City, is attracting the attention of the whole country by her unusual beauty. This is her second article in which she discloses her beauty secrets to the readers of The Post-Crescent.

MARIAN HALE. BY MARY KATHERINE CAMPBELL "Miss America"

What beauty I have I attribute to health and to a sensible mother who taught me early to love exercise and out-of-door life and insisted upon early hours and regular food.

Nearly every girl I know is dieting—to get thin. That is, she is attempting to. And she makes her conversations revolve about calories and starches and vitamins and suffers acute remorse every time she eats a French pastry.

Yet I've never been able to coax one of these earnest dieters to get up early in the morning to take a swim or go for a horseback ride before breakfast.

LIKE BED TOO WELL

They don't want even a howling acquaintance with the clock before 9:30 in the morning, and they never want to walk more than two blocks.

Now I confess, frankly and quite unashamedly, that I eat four meals a day—just ask my mother how hearty they are—regular man-sized affairs.

If I ever found myself getting too heavy I'd be inclined to go to a gymnasium or do a little extra exercise, rather than make my life one renunciation of everything I like.

Besides, I believe one needs plenty of good, nourishing food, and to try to get along on black coffee and dry toast when you want bacon and eggs is silly.

SWIMMING BEST EXERCISE

To my mind, no exercise compares with swimming. I keep that up summer and winter. In the spring and fall I ride horseback a great deal because it gets me out into the air.

I play tennis and golf in the summer for the same reason, and during the year round, I can motor, too, and I love to drive, but I never let this cheat me out of real exercise.

MARY KATHERINE CAMPBELL

I take a quick, cold bath in the morning and a warm one in the evening. If my complexion ever seems to be getting pale or looks lifeless I drink orange juice and add vegetables and subtract meat from my menu.

Any girl is foolish, I believe, to go through life handicapped by a poor complexion, but the way to get a good one is not by covering, or trying to cover what you have, but to eat sensibly and correct it from the inside.

I believe anyone who takes enough exercise out of doors will not be troubled with sleeplessness or pine for the excitement of after-theater parties and dancing until dawn. That sort of thing is ruinous to beauty, as we all know.

Early to bed and early to rise isn't an original creed, but it's the best one I know to follow for health and beauty.

Tomorrow I'll tell you what I think about clothes, and what I aim to express in mine.

THE MARRIAGE SHIP

Chapter 24 — The Cottage Near Broadway

By Zoe Beckley

Inside a white-enameled fence that made an enclosure five feet square a chubby year-old little lady wobbled in her first effort to walk.

Her pink rompers were adorned with an embroidered chicken and an embroidered pup respectively, and on the two corners for the same embroidered kitten. These cherished animals served a noble purpose. Whenever their owner fell down, mother had taught her to look quick to see if any of them were hurt—which saved many a baby tear.

Just now her round cheeks were tanned with sun and flushed with pleasure, her blond curls airy with the breeze. Her fingers were lightly clutched about a grained forlinger, and a deep seagull voice gently rumbled:

"Avast there, Commodore, port your helm or you'll sink your craft. You're a bit short of sea-legs and you heel too much to leeward. But your old shipmate's standing by."

And the baby gurgled and beamed. From the white-columbed porch of a colonial cottage with apple-green blinds in which a little tree was scroll-saved, came Connie.

"You'll be having Nora swearing sea-oaths next, Uncle Dale!" she laughed with the deep note of love in her voice. "But you're a specialist in navigation so I oughtn't to complain. Here's Mary to give Nora her dinner. Will you come and get yours?"

"Captain Dale heaved up his big bulk reluctantly.

"Seems I'm always being piped off when I rather stay on the bridge," he grumbled, but obeyed. "Fred's must due, isn't he?"

"Listen!"

"Tara-tara!" sang an auto horn. Around the curve of a boulevard that led from Manhattan Island to the pretty new suburb of West Forest Hills, in Queensborough, swept a bright new Gypsy, with Fred Dale in the seat. He swirled up to the porch, jumped out, tossed Nora for a fondling, kissed Connie adoringly and rumbled his uncle's thick gray locks which needed no rumpling.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is—TENTATIVE. It's pronounced—ten-ta-tiv, with accent on the first syllable, and the "a" touches, but slightly.

It means—pending, or based on a trial or test; experimental. It comes from—Latin "tentare," to try.

It's used like this—"The tentative acquiescence of the British in the most important of Kemal Pasha's demands promises a great diplomatic triumph for the Turkish leader, following his military successes over the Greeks."

Adventures Of The Twins

Oliver Roberts Barton

Frog Steals Puller's "Ow, oh, ouch!" Marty Mink was yelling when Dr. Snuffles and the Twins knocked on his front door. "Doctor? C-c-come on in."

The three of them walked into Marty's muddy hallway. Marty, you know, lives on the bank of Ripple Creek, or rather in it.

Before Nancy had time to close the door, Phil Frog put his toe in the crack.

"Hey!" he cried. "You don't mind if I come, too, do you?"

"What do you want to come for, Philip?" asked Nick. "Of course, you're safe as long as Marty has a fish-bone in his throat because he can't eat anything."

"But he hasn't had a meal for hours and hours, and the minute Dr. Snuffles pulls out the fish-bone Marty will begin to look for something to eat. And he likes frogs better than anything."

Phil grinned. "Yes, that's so," he agreed. "But I'm curious: I'd like to see how you pull out fish-bones."

"Well, come along then," said Nick. "Ow, oh, ouch," moaned Marty.

Dr. Snuffles took out his pullers and was just going to pull out the bone when Phil gave a quick jump with his strong hind legs and knocked the pullers out of the fairy-man's hand, grabbed them in his mouth and made a big dive into Ripple Creek.

"I'm not going to run any risk of Mr. Mink choking on a frog bone, anyway," grinned Phil.

LOTS OF WAYS TO SAVE BREAD THAT HAS BECOME STALE

By Bertha E. Shapleigh

The war taught us many things, perhaps the one most needed in the home was not to waste bread.

Bread is surely the staff of life and every people on earth has some kind of bread. To the highly civilized man, "white" bread is a necessity.

In cities, comparatively few housekeepers bake their own bread. Much is left over from the bought loaf, and it is the left-over bread which we are to consider.

There is the "soft-stale" bread which later becomes hard and dry. The first is, of course, used largely for toast, which may be buttered or creamed.

CUT IT IN STRIPS

The slices may be cut in strips or cubes after toasting, and be served with soup. Tiny dice of bread may be fried with onions and fat, and cooked with milk and water for an excellent soup.

Often the toast is used for a garnish. Cut a slice of toast across cornerwise and dip the points in melted butter and chopped parsley.

BREAD PUDDING

Then there are the bread puddings! Sometimes they are so poorly made one dreads to suggest a bread pudding, but one recalls a poor dessert by that name and refuse to try another.

But a bread pudding well made is one of the best desserts. First, there is the "bread and butter" pudding—then the plain pudding made with crumbs.

This is varied by adding raisins and currants, stewed fruit, or by creaming the sugar used in it, or by adding melted chocolate or cocoa.

Then a more elaborate dessert is called queen's pudding or cold eclair.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You the as solicitous of the comfort of your fellow passengers on a train as you would be of your friends.

You do not keep your window open if you know it is causing discomfort to others.

Nor do you spread your hand luggage and parcels in the aisle for others to stumble over. You are courteous to all the employees and remember that you are not the only person on the train requiring attention.

BEAUTY

Many of the smartest beauty shops are adding courses in physical culture and have instructors who provide reducing exercises. The theory is that a woman must have a slender figure as a foundation for all beauty.

GIRLS! LEMONS

WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

DECORATIVE

Smart costume blouses for summer wear are of gold or silver lace over light foundations of metal cloth. Usually a few French ribbon flowers are added to advantage.

EYELET EMBROIDERY

English eyelet embroidery is again very popular. It is quite probable that we will find lace collars and frills appearing more frequently on our frocks this coming season than they have for many past ones.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

The Liburnian girl practices long-distance throwing before her marriage. That is because when the wedding dinner is over the bride must throw a cake (kolark) over the bridegroom's house.

The superstition is that the higher she throws it, the happier she will be. And since houses in this country the 15th and cakes are hard, the bride may have a favorable omen with a little preliminary practice.

Well, here's the news at last and yet when you scan over the above list with its "ors" the exact lineup that will compose the 1922 Lawrence eleven is as big a mystery as ever.

Head Coach H. D. McChesney ventured the above list late Thursday evening following a scrimmage with the Green Bay Packers in their second invasion of the Lawrence field this week. However, a fair idea as to who will start for the Lawrence eleven against Stevens Point normal Saturday can be obtained from a study of the men named.

IMPROVE ON PASSING
Considerable improvement in passing the oval was demonstrated in the Thursday scrimmage by the Blue and White. At least a score of passes were completed, which is an 85 per cent improvement over the work accomplished Tuesday.

As in the previous engagement Captain Lambrecht's aggression confined itself to football lessons in the lines most needed by both teams.

Coach McChesney has nothing but praise for the Bay gridgers for their conduct towards the college men. It is the hope of both teams to be able to get together twice weekly for training.

While the grid mentor is not shouting praises for his charges he is satisfied with the progress of the squad and confidence reigns on the campus that the Stevens Point school will be whipped by at least three touchdowns.

Remington is most likely to get the center position. "Bill" Smith, last year's center, arrived this week and while he is undergoing strenuous training it may be impossible to get him in tip top shape for Saturday.

Among the new men that may play the opening game will be "Red" Smith, star of the Kaukauna high school grid team of 1921. "Red" had been coming to the school so rapidly that it will not be at all a surprise if he fills the left guard position.

Jacobson, Appleton high school star, may take the quarterback burden, although the work of Kotal is preeminent in many ways. According to the followers of the Blue and White Kotal is probably the best backfield general since the days of Sylvester.

The Stevens Point lineup is expected to be as follows:

Reads Anything But Sports

MILLER HUGGINS, MANAGER OF YANKS

By ROY GROVE
"Of course I'm grouchier. I'm the grouchyest guy in the world," yelled Miller Huggins, "while I'm on the ball field."

And from the outside world he has all the fans to back him in his grouchiness.

But he's far from the individual the fan thinks he is. First, it is not grouchiness, it's severe seriousness. "I have worked too hard in my day," says Huggins. "I have gone at everything with my mind, and neglected my physical health."

That's his statement from the man who has developed the greatest gang of athletes in the world and made the "Mighty Babe."

But it's exactly that. A small, nervous man who doesn't weigh much above a hundred and twenty but who's always thinking.

That's his hobby. Just to sit and smoke and think, and think hard.

Entering his hotel room, you look around and find him hidden deeply in a chair in some far corner, one leg thrown over the arm, nothing near him but a single magazine on the floor, and from the veil of curling smoke from his half-lit pipe, his steel eyes look out, thinking.

Huggins' greatest hobby is his mania for heavy literature. During the day when most folks think he has it pretty soft, seeing a ball game for nothing in reality he is working his head off.

When the game is over he wants to relax, to get away from the game, to hide in his room. He doesn't care to hobnob with people for they think he wants to talk baseball. That's just what he doesn't.

On the particular day the Post-Crescent representative called he was absorbed in the Wall Street Journal. He was fairly radiating joy at an article chock full of figures and dates.

"New York? NO! You can tell the world I don't like that town. I am from the west and when a fellow is brought up among the green trees and grass it's a hard habit to break."

By this time you know Miller Huggins. It only takes a few minutes, and you find out that he isn't GROUCH. He's a regular guy. He can laugh and play and joke, but all the time he's thinking, that serious thinking.

At Oshkosh To Form
Plans

Fond du Lac—A meeting of the magnates of the Central Wisconsin Basketball league is to be held at the Atherton hotel at Oshkosh on Sunday at 3 o'clock when officers will be elected and tentative plans for the 1922-23 league race discussed.

The Fond du Lac Cardinals, runners up in the league race last season, will be represented at the meeting by Walter E. Tack and Max Gedlinski, Neenah by Manager Jones, Two Rivers by Doc Belmore and Reuben Plantico and Oshkosh by Frank Steckbauer.

Whether Green Bay and Appleton will be represented at the meeting is not known. The league proposition was a failure in these two cities last season and the other four clubs are not keen on having to experience the same difficulties this season.

Wisconsin Rapids, Kiel, Plymouth, Sheboygan and several other cities who are anxious to break into the wheel have been extended invitations to have representatives at the meeting. E. W. Neutke of the Milwaukee Bright Spots will be in Oshkosh to attend the meeting.

Coach Gedlinski of the Fond du Lac team, who is one of the chief promoters of the league plan, is enthusiastic over the prospects for the season. Gedlinski is making a visit to the various cities mentioned as league possibilities and believes that a circuit of eight teams may grow out of the meeting.

The league that operated last season with much success was the first professional basketball wheel to be organized east of New York.

BOWLING SEASON AT
Y STARTS MONDAY

Monday there will be new activity in the basement of the Y. M. C. A. for the bowling alleys will be opened to members for the season. One alley and possibly two will be put into use and the third will be ready later.

Bowling facilities are in excellent condition. Carpenters have replaced worn strips with new ones, have built new floor bases for the pins, and have sanded and smoothed the surface. The alleys have been polished and coated with shellac.

No team or tournament plans have been announced by A. P. Jensen, physical director, but it is possible that the association will take part in the city league that is in process of organization.

ROD AND REEL

SPOON VERY EFFECTIVE

The spoon is a very effective bait and can be used with no other adornment than that which the maker has endowed it, or it will be found an added attractiveness when used with any of the natural foods of the game fishes, or the artificial substitutes. The glittering, flashing whirl of the modern spoon in front of a minnow, frog, pork rind or chunk is something that awakens the curiosity or anger or most any of the game boys.

For the big old wolves of the waters, the musky, pike and pickerel, the spoon has always been a favorite lure, and now that casting for these bushwhackers of the weed beds has become more popular, the smaller-sized fished, pebbled and plain spoons have ridden to glory through the great granddads they have brought to gaff. About a number three or six makes a good-sized casting-spoon for these fish, and for trolling, which is the method followed by the majority of fishermen in quest of these scrappers, the most popular size is number six or eight. The main thing in the spoon line is to remember that the small-sized spoons have been getting the big fish during the past few years, as they have been used more and more by the clan, and that it is not at all necessary to load up the line with the great big spoons of the African war-shield size.

In using the spoon alone as a casting lure, the average fisherman will find it a bit light with the short bait, tuck on a few small split snout or a dipsey sinker. Most any likely looking water makes good casting. With the spoon, and for the pike family off the edges of the weed beds is a winner. Allow the spoon to sink a bit after casting and reel in slowly, just fast enough to keep the spoon twirling. And the fellow who has a good run of success with the spoon is the old scout who fishes slowly. That is a point in the correct use of the spoon that only comes with experience, the usual method being to snake it in through the water as fast as possible in order to throw another cast. The most strikes with the spoon alone come when the lure is moving in the water, and not when it first strikes the surface.

YANKS FAIL TO CINCH PENNANT

Rip Collins, Castoff, Has Better Hurling Duel With Bush

Boston — Boston prevented New York from clinching the American league pennant on Thursday, by defeating the leaders, 3 to 1.

Warren (Rip) Collins, last year with the Yankees, had the better of Joe Bush, in 1921 a member of the Red Sox, in a well pitched game. Collins allowed only four hits. He walked seven and fanned only one. Bush struck out nine, Collins fanning four times.

The New York run was the result of a pass to Witt in the third and singles by Dugan and Pip. Boston scored a run in the second on a pass and singles by J. Collins, and Mitchell. In the sixth Pratt doubled to short right and scored on J. Collins' single to center after O'Rourke's sacrifice. A pass and Pratt's double gave Boston its third run in the seventh.

Former Yankees were responsible for all three Boston runs. New York must win one game or St. Louis lose one to assure the Yankees the pennant.

TRAILING THE TEAMS

Chicago—Needling but a single victory to clinch the championship, the Yankees failed Thursday in their attempt to settle the issue despite the fact that Joe Bush, premier American league twirler was on the firing line. Bush did well but could not match the brand of hurling uncoerced by Rip Collins, erstwhile Yankee southpaw, who piloted the Red Sox to a 3 to 1 decision.

Washington and the Philadelphia Athletics, the only other major league clubs active Thursday, split a double header. Ed Rommel, Mack's ace, was knocked out in the first game, which the Senators won 5 to 6 but the Athletics slugged out a 12 to 4 victory in the second contest, a six inning affair.

DENNY TO SHIFT
MEN IN BACKFIELD
FOR ANTIGO GAME

Tappert Expected To Fill Full-back's Post—Briese
For Half

The lineup: Bonini, center; Bohon, left guard; Fischer, right guard; Stark, right tackle; Morris, left tackle; Schiebler, right end; Ashman, left end; Mills, quarterback; Gerou, left half; Verstagen, right half and Briese, fullback. Subs for the line: Kamps, Schweiger and Kline. Subs for the backfield: Tappert, full, Kranzsch and Bleyer, halves.

The high school lads went through scrimmages, Thursday with the Lawrence freshmen eleven on the college field.

The work against the first year men was highly gratifying to the high school trainers. Time after time Briese, Gerou, Mills evaded the Frosh and went over the line for downs. The Frosh team had a number of former Appleton high school men and they gave the stiffest opposition to the Blue and Gold.

NOT OPTIMISTIC
Despite the excellent showing by the Appleton team, Coach Denney as well as others are not optimistic over the outcome of the game Saturday. While it is true Appleton romped away with Manitowoc, there will not be the "easy meat" in the Antigo aggregation. Manitowoc never has been a football town and Antigo is. Antigo defeated the Blue and Gold last year by a score of 19 to 0 and is meeting the Appleton team early in the season because it is sure the Denney aggregation will be much easier now than later when it will be better organized.

Antigo won from Appleton but was beaten afterwards by teams that Appleton drubbed. There is a concentrated effort on the part of Antigo to carry away the Blue and Gold scalp because after all Appleton ranks many notches above the visitors and victory has, therefore, a bigger kick to it.

Two new men in the line and a shift in the backfield is expected to strengthen the Blue and Gold lineup of the Appleton high school sufficient to even the score with Antigo when the eleven of two schools meet at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon on Lawrence field.

The new faces on the Denney grid machine will be Bohon as left guard, in place of Kamps who held the position Saturday, and Schiebler as right end, in place of Verway, who is on the sick list this week.

FIND GOOD COMBINATION

However, the principal change is expected to be the shifting of Captain Briese from his fullback position to half and assignment of Tappert to his place. Tappert was used in Saturday's game and his dashes through the enemy line convinced the handlers of the Blue and Gold that he is as strong a lad as ever made holes in an opposition eleven. Briese still looms big and in many ways a better player than Tappert, but the captain hasn't the physical stamina of Tappert to buck through the lines. Briese is one of the best open field runners on the squad. With Briese trying for yards around the ends and with Tappert always in reserve to smash line opposition, high school officials think they have as good a combination for the backfield that ever wore a Blue and Gold uniform.

A tentative lineup issued by Coach Denney Thursday night, still has Briese in his fullback position but it is expected that changes will be made during the game.

While the tilt Saturday will be bitter, the enmity between the Antigo and Appleton school is only second to Marinette, which will play here Oct. 28.

ANTIGO PLAYERS

There is nothing known about the lineup of the Antigo team this year. An eligibility list sent here gives the following names:

ILLINOIS EXPELS
STAR; PRO, CHARGE

By Associated Press
Chicago—Strict enforcement of the Western conference rules prohibiting Big Ten athletes from engaging in professional sports during their college careers, is the demand of the University of Illinois, which again has taken the lead in cleaning out professionalism by disqualifying one of its own baseball and grid stars.

Other Big Ten athletes may follow Tom McCann, Illinois star, on the ineligible list, according to George Huff, Athletic director at Illinois. On the heels of the McCann case comes a flurry of excitement at Wisconsin over rumors that Rolfe Williams, Badger grid star, may be protested on grounds that he played professional baseball last summer. T. E. Jones, director of athletics at Wisconsin characterized the rumors as absolutely unfounded.

DAVE BANCROFT,
RANKS SKY HIGH

Shortstop Considered One Of
The Most Valuable Players
In The Major Leagues

By Associated Press
New York—Out on the field directing the defensive play that neither John McGraw, the manager, nor his first assistant, Hughey Jennings, could do from their places on the bench, all season has been Dave Bancroft, field captaining the Giants to another pennant.

"Banny" is listed by many of the competent critics of the game to be the greatest shortstop in baseball today. The teams that have won pennants with a poor, or even mediocre man at shortstop—the proof of the defense—are few and those that have come through winners of the world series virtually all had topnotchers.

RANKS HIGH
Before the 1922 season ended baseball writers began casting about for the most valuable man to his team of all the major leaguers and a number mentioned Bancroft, placing him in a class with Joe Tinker, of the old Cubs.

Hans Wagner, of the Pirates, Rabbit Maranville, of Pittsburgh and Boston, Jack Barry of the Athletics and Red Sox, and a greater player than Arthur Fletcher, now with the Quakers, who was Bancroft's predecessor.

The Giant captain is of first class calibre both on the defense and offense and as a field general. As a lead off man he ranks with the best of all time. He covers an amazingly large area in the field and is a pestering, dangerous runner on the bases. He is considered quite a bit better than the cold figures show him to be.

STARTS OFF POOR

Last season Bancroft hit over 300 for the first time in his career. He began his career as a poor batter and his rise has been due to his superior fielding and inspirational defense. Ten years ago he hit 213 for the Portland Oreg. club, but came up to 254 his first year in the majors with Philadelphia and was a member of the Quakers the only time that a club representing that city participated in the world series.

In 153 games in which he played last year Bancroft batted .319 and fielded .960, accepting 396 chances—more than any other National league shortstop and making 382 assists, 396 putouts, 39 errors. He batted in 67 runs, went to first base on balls 66 times and struck out only 23 times. He scored 121 runs, made 193 hits, for a total of 267 bases, including 26 two-baggers, 22 sacrifice hits and, in addition, he stole 17 bases.

COUNTY LEAGUERS
WIND UP TONIGHT

Prizes Will Be Awarded To Winners; Consider Plans
For Next Season

Outagamie County Baseball league magnates will gather in the office of the Post-Crescent Friday night to wind up the successful season just closed. Prizes will be awarded members of the Kimberly team which won the pennant in both halves of the league season.

It is possible that plans for next year will be discussed. Every team in the league is said to have had a successful season and more baseball was given Outagamie fans than ever before in history.

There is much sentiment for continuing the league next year, it is said. Fans particularly are eager to see the organization continued.

HORTONVILLE WILL PLAY MANAWA TEAM

Hortonville baseball fans will have another opportunity of seeing their team in action this year when it clashes with the Manawa squad, champion of Waupaca-co., at Hortonville Sunday afternoon. Hortonville finished in second place in the Outagamie County league.

Lukowicz, the hurling star obtained by Hortonville late in the season, will hurl against the Waupaca leaguers. "Bib" Boer will be on the receiving end. Manawa will use Roman and Roman, its veteran battery. The game is to start at 2:15.

BELOIT-RIPON GAME
MAY GO TO ROCKFORD

Beloit—Beloit college may meet Ripon at Rockford on Nov. 18, instead of playing the game at Ripon as it is now scheduled. The Beloit faculty have already signified their willingness to play a game on the Forest City field and Ripon officials "are interested." Dean Barber of Ripon said on Wednesday, "I am sure that the Ripon reaction will be favorable to the change but the plan will probably be met with some opposition. The Wisconsin state title will probably hinge on the Beloit-Ripon game. Early indications seem to favor them as the two strongest teams in the state conference."

APPLE CREEK TO PLAY AT FREEDOM

The Apple Creek baseball team will play Sunday with Freedom, cellar champions of the Outagamie county league. The game will be played at Freedom. Apple Creek is carrying a chip on the shoulder in view of having won 12 out of 15 games this season. Nelson, the star hurler of Freedom, who last Sunday fanned 17 men of the Dale aggregation, will try to humiliate the independent team. Schommer will catch. Apple Creek will use Bernhard, who has pitched them to many a victory this summer, and Schabo as catcher.
